WASHINGTON (AP) — President Kennedy asked Congress today to boost next year's U.S. budget by nearly $5,000,000,000.

He sought, among other things, additional funds to step up state department activities in Africa, strengthen the U.S. information agency's program in Africa and Latin America and expand the U.S. staff at the United Nations.

THE BLACK HEART OF HITLER

BY WILLIAM L. SHIRER

HE INTENDED TO MARRY HIS NIECE

(Second of a series)

It was with his niece that Adolf Hitler had, so far as is known, the only deep love affair of his life.

In the summer of 1928 Hitler rented the villa Wachenfeld on the Obersalzberg above Berchtesgaden for 100 marks a month ($25) and induced his widowed half-sister, Angela Raubal, to come from Vienna to keep house for him in the first home which he could call his own.

HITLER

Frau Raubal brought along her two daughters, Geli and Friedl. Geli was 20, with flowing blond hair, handsome features, a pleasant voice and a sunny disposition which made her attractive to men.

Hitler soon fell in love with her. He took her everywhere, to meetings and conferences, on long walks in the mountains and to the cafes and theatres in Munich. When in 1929 he rented a luxurious nine-room apartment in one of the most fashionable thoroughfares in Munich, Geli was given her own room in it.

Gossip about the party leader and his beautiful blond niece was inevitable in Munich and throughout Nazi circles in southern Germany. Some of the more prim or envious leaders suggested that Hitler cease showing off his youthful sweetheart in public or that he marry her. Hitler was furious at such talk and in one quarrel over the matter he fired the Gauleiter of Wuerzburg.

Deeply in Love

It is probable that Hitler intended to marry his niece. Early party comrades who were close to him at that time subsequently told this author that a marriage seemed inevitable. That Hitler was deeply in love with her they had no doubt. Her own feelings are a matter of conjecture. That she was flattered by the attentions of a man now becoming famous, and indeed enjoyed them, is obvious.

Whether she reciprocated her uncle's love is not known; probably not, and in the end certainly not. Some deep rift whose origins and nature have never been fully ascertained grew between them.

There has been much speculation but little evidence. Each was apparently jealous of the other. She resented his attentions to other women; to Winifred Wagner, among others. He suspected that she had had a clandestine affair with Emil Maurice, the ex-convict who had been his bodyguard.

Forbade Her

She objected too to her uncle's tyranny over her. He did not want her to be seen in the company of any man but himself. He forbade her to go to Vienna to continue her singing lessons, squelching her ambition for a career on the operatic stage. There are dark hints too that she was repelled by the masochistic inclinations of her lover, but this brutal tyrant in politics yearned to be enslaved by the women he loved — a not uncommon urge in such men, according to the sexologists.

Whatever it was that darkened the love between the uncle and his niece, their quarrels became more violent and at the end of the summer of 1931 Geli announced that she was returning to Vienna to resume her voice studies. Hitler forbade her to go.

There was a scene between the two, witnessed by neighbors.

Ten Negro Leaders Jailed As Verwoerd Returns Home

HALIFAX, HERE WE COME!

Leg muscles are fine now, but what will they be like in three months? The Jaycees are set to leave for Halifax tonight, plan to march out of Halifax Wednesday on 4,000-mile walk home.

KEENLEYSIDE BLASTS HARKNESS

TORONTO (CP) — Dr. Hugh Keenleyside of Victoria, chairman of the Canadian National Committee for the Control of Radiation Hazards, today accused Defence Minister Harkness of "McCarthy" tactics in smearing people who oppose Canada joining the nuclear club.

Speaking at the committee's annual meeting, Mr. Keenleyside, chairman of the B.C. Power Commission, said Mr. Harkness labels all critics of Ottawa's defence policies as "pacifists and neutralists." He follows the good old McCarthy tradition and carries on his propaganda by lumping all opposition together," he said. "It's time for him to start playing the game honestly."

He said Canadian scientists have shown "little evidence of any sense of responsibility for telling the Canadian people what will happen if an all-out nuclear war occurs."

'Hero's Welcome' By White Crowd

JOHANNESBURG (Reuters) — Prime Minister Hendrik Verwoerd today told a huge crowd of white South Africans greeting his return from the Commonwealth prime ministers' conference that Africans and Asians were taking over the Commonwealth.

Verwoerd flew in from London a few hours after police arrested 10 Negro leaders and prepared for anti-government demonstrations over South Africa's withdrawal from the family of nations. (See also page 5.)

He was greeted at Jan Smuts' airport by a cheering, hymn-singing crowd estimated at between 50,000 and 60,000.

Verwoerd said: "We have released ourselves from the pressure of the Afro-Asians who have been taking over the Commonwealth. We are not prepared to let them dictate to us."

'We Helped U.K. Out of Tough Spot'

He said relations between South Africa and Britain now are better because "we helped her get out of a difficult position... by not laying on the United Kingdom the invidious choice between other members and ourselves."

The arrest of the 10 Negro leaders appeared aimed at heading off any organized protest against Verwoerd's policies.

There was a brief outbreak of violence here today when 300 white women marched through the streets protesting apartheid—the Verwoerd regime's strict race segregation program which resulted in the decision to leave the multi-racial Commonwealth.

A small group of white university students counter-demonstrated with banners reading "South African women are not Congo nuns." Members of a watching crowd attacked the students and all but one of their banners was brought down in a whirl of fists.

The South African Press Association described the clash as a "full-scale riot." The agency report quoted by The Associated Press, said: "European whites ran amok among the natives in the crowd, kicking and striking out at them. The Africans fled down the street. There was a cry of 'let's clean up those...' and then the white mob turned on another crowd of blacks, who scattered and fled. A number of them were caught, however, and beaten up by the mob."

Strong security precautions were taken for the arrival of the prime minister, wounded by a gunman in an assassination attempt last year. He got a "hero's welcome" and a 21-gun salute at the airport.

But as protest meetings against the pull-out decision were being planned, the English-language Rand Daily Mail of Johannesburg declared Verwoerd deserved "anything but a hero's welcome."

Two clergymen and Jordan Ngubane, vice-president of the multi-racial Liberal party, were among the leaders arrested in their homes in the Johannesburg area, Durban, Bloemfontein and Port Elizabeth.

The arrested men face charges under the Unlawful Organizations Act and the Suppression of Communism Act.

Police said those arrested were members or former members of an organizing committee for an all-African Negro conference to be held in Pietermaritzburg next weekend. A discussion of worsening race relations is included in the conference agenda.

Wire Briefs

Rioting in Algeria — ORAN, Algeria (Reuters) — Police clashed today with some 3,000 Moslem demonstrators in nearby Mostaganem and the army occupied the west Algerian town with tanks and armored cars. Three persons were reported injured.

Conciliation Near? — LEOPOLDVILLE, The Congo (AP) — Rebel leader Antoine Gizenga was reported Sunday to be working toward conciliation with President Joseph Kasavubu despite his face-saving rejection of the Congolese confederation proposed by his political rivals.

Bridge Fall Kills 23 — CAIRO (AP) — A suspension bridge collapsed into a canal Sunday at an Egyptian picnic grounds, 50 miles north of Cairo, and police reported today that 23 persons were drowned. Attracted by a burst of fireworks on the other side of the bridge, a mob raced across. Cables holding the span snapped and all fell into water 15 feet deep.

Train Cars Flip — LONDON (AP) — Three coaches of a packed commuter train overturned in a rush hour collision near London Bridge today but only a dozen or so passengers were reported injured.

'Sympathetic' — OTTAWA (CP) — Prime Minister Diefenbaker and members of his cabinet were reported today to be sympathetic to urgings by the Retail Merchants' Association for a clear-cut ban on trading stamps.

D. A. Gilbert of Toronto, general manager of a national association, said a brief presented to the prime minister, Trade Minister Hees and Justice Minister Fulton was given "an excellent reception."

Police Use Tear Gas On Rioters

BULAWAYO, Southern Rhodesia (AP) — An open-air meeting of African nationalists turned into a stone-throwing riot Sunday. Police fired tear gas to break up the crowd of 30,000 Negroes.

The Africans panicked and tore down fences to get away from the choking fumes. Three Negro policemen and two spectators at the National Democratic party meeting were reported injured.

Before the outbreak, Joshua Nkomo, the party president, praised the late premier Patrice Lumumba of the Congo as a worthy leader and told the crowd "the European countries are on the wane."

Near Chingol, in the Northern Rhodesian copper belt, an African crowd damaged a white man's car after it accidentally struck and injured a Negro girl.

The European occupants of the car fled when police showed up. The Negro crowd stoned their vehicle and some African youths went into a mine compound and beat up two Negro policemen.

Boost for Adenauer

BONN (AP) — Chancellor Konrad Adenauer's ruling Christian Democrats received a big prestige boost today from returns of municipal elections in two major West German states Sunday.

Man Killed Up-Island

A 74-year-old man, resident of Cumberland most of his life, died Saturday after being struck by a car while walking across an intersection in the up-island town.

Arthur Edlund, 60, also of Cumberland, was charged with criminal negligence in connection with the man's death, and was scheduled to appear in court today.

Police are withholding the name of the victim until next of kin have been notified.

Congolese Aid UN Against 'Witches'

LEOPOLDVILLE (AP) — A joint force of United Nations troops and Congolese of the Stanleyville regime got through to Kasongo today in their drive against fanatical witchcraft gangs terrorizing Kivu province.

The column, made up of 150 UN Malay soldiers and 50 Congolese, flashed a terse message to UN headquarters here saying: "All is well."

The 200-mile drive to Kasongo from the UN base at Kindu-dubbed Operation Distress—apparently met no resistance from the bow-and-arrow gangs who say they will "kill all whites." The trip took 24 hours.

An estimated 30 whites, thought to be mainly missionaries and plantation owners, are believed still in the Kasongo area, a centre of the witchcraft cult.

BIAS CHARGE REVIVED

'Oust Matthew' Move by CCF

An official request for removal of Deputy Speaker Alex Matthew from office has been made by the CCF.

Arthur Turner (CCF, Vancouver East) has filed notice of motion on the legislature's order paper that Mr. Matthew should not hold office because of bias.

This was the spark that ignited one of the most furious rows heard in the House in years last Thursday night during debate on Bill 42.

Mr. Turner's motion says the deputy speaker, Social Credit MLA for Vancouver Centre, "has violated all the cherished traditions of this high office."

The reason was a letter written to a Vancouver newspaper last week in which Mr. Matthew supported Bill 42, and attacked its critics.

The letter was signed by Mr. Matthew as deputy speaker.

Mr. Turner's motion says that an MLA occupying the office of deputy speaker, acting as "judge" over the legislative debates, should be by tradition completely impartial.

Mr. Turner moves: "This House therefore regrets that the member referred to no longer enjoys the full confidence of this House and must be removed from office."

Sask. Hikes Pensions On 'Needs Test' Basis

REGINA (CP) — A. M. Nicholson, Saskatchewan minister of social welfare and rehabilitation announced today in the legislature an increase of more than $2,000,000 annually in provincial pension allowances.

He said eligibility will be determined by a "needs test" rather than the existing "means test."

The changes will be effective Nov. 1, 1961.

The minister also announced similar changes in the mothers' allowances program to come into effect July 1, 1961. He said the program will be known as aid to dependent families.

Both allowances have been financed entirely by the provincial government, but under the new "needs test" arrangement the federal government will share the supplemental allowance on a 50-50 basis and also will pay about 15 per cent of the mothers' allowance.

THIS WORLD OF OURS

People and Things

(Times News Services)

PHILADELPHIA — When Albert Torres, 20, was arrested Sunday on a charge of possessing burglary tools, he said he had tipped the police off on himself because he wanted to spend the night in jail to escape his "nagging wife."

Torres got his wish. Police quoted Torres as saying he had phoned from a nearby booth and reported someone was trying to break into an elementary school. Then he hurried to the school with the tools and waited for police to arrive.

He had told his wife that if she didn't cut out the nagging he'd get himself arrested. But she didn't believe him, he said.

Mrs. Torres confirmed her husband's story. Other than that, she had no comment.

LONDON — The Republic of Ireland's censorship board is banning certain periodicals it calls "obscene" or "indecent." Among them is the National Police Gazette.

OTTAWA — Dog-catcher Rhea Amyot of suburban Gloucester Township has come under fire again for his collection methods.

Township resident William Sweet Saturday accused Mr. Amyot of "dog-napping"—using the Amyot children to coax dogs from their owners' yards with daddy-standing by to pick them up as strays.

Last month the Ottawa Humane Society protested to township council that Mr. Amyot was using a young female pooch to lure dogs into his pickup truck.

Mr. Amyot, who gets $4 for each dog he rounds up, denied that charge but was warned by council that such a practice must stop.

DUNOON, Scotland — A British frogman today derided as "non-existent" security precautions at the new U.S. nuclear submarine base here, after diving under the 18,500-ton submarine tender Proteus at night and scratching his initials on her hull underwater.

But Michael ("Mad Mike") Henderson's dive to find out "just how good the security precautions were" was known all along to the U.S. Navy, Proteus commander Capt. Richard B. Laning said today.

"I saw him myself and we had a boat out after him for a while," said Laning. "We did not know who it was, but a reporter said that he had been approached by a man named Michael Henderson and that he was just playing pranks and getting his name into the news."

He said an American frogman had gone down and inspected the hull, where Henderson scratched his initials six inches high in two places, to see if he had "done anything which could have any effect on the ship." He refused to say what, if anything, the American frogman found.

GOSPORT, England — Gertrude Horn, 76, and Phil Edwards, 61, were married after an engagement lasting 32 years.

"My mother died earlier this year at the age of 89," said Edwards, a railway worker. "She liked Gertrude but her rule was—one house, one missus."

"So we decided to wait."

WELLINGTON — Returning from a visit to Australia, New Zealand's minister of customs, J. R. Marshall, was asked to fill in a customs declaration that among other things, "Have you any refrigerators or bicycles in your baggage?" The minister later announced the form would be revised.

$9 MILLION IN PRIZES FOR IRISH SWEEP

DUBLIN (AP) — The biggest draw in the 31-year history of the Irish hospital sweepstakes was opened today—a prize fund of £3,400,000 ($9,320,000) and total proceeds of just over £6,000,000.

The sweepstakes are based on 71 horses, the first acceptors for the Grand National steeplechase to be run next Saturday at Aintree, England.

Top prize is $140,000, second is $56,000 and third $28,000.

In Sidney RCMP court Friday: Keith Webb, Victoria, $25 and $250 costs for careless driving.

Young Plowmen To Get Chance

DUNCAN — A training and demonstration session for junior plowmen will be held April 1 at Glenbourne Farm, Koksilah, owned by Eric R. Hamilton.

It is designed to acquaint 4-H members and other beginners with contest plowing, and prepare them for the B.C. plowing championships to be held April 8 at Fairbridge Farm, Cowichan Station.

Among instructors will be Archie Stevenson, Fairbridge, and J. L. Saville, Cobble Hill, perennial contest winners, and Ken Jameson, district agriculturalist, will be in charge.

Milk Meeting

DUNCAN — Annual meeting of Vancouver Island Milk Foundation will be held at the North Western Creamery in Victoria, March 29, starting at 10:30 a.m.

J. T. Fall, Cobble Hill, president, will be chairman. Both producers and distributors belong to the organization.

GENEVA (AP) — A Moscow radio commentator expressed "a certain optimism" today about success in the three-power nuclear test ban conference resuming here Tuesday.

There are definitely possibilities of progress, once the U.S., British and Soviet representatives get together again after a three-month lapse, the broadcast said. It blamed the Eisenhower administration for past failures.

The East-West negotiators will be trying for a treaty to outlaw atomic and hydrogen weapon tests and set up an enforcement system. Inspection and control have been the biggest hurdles during the 2½ years of talking.

The United States and Britain prepared to offer the Soviet Union a new approach to the control problem.

FRESH APPROACH

In co-operation with the British, President Kennedy worked out a fresh approach to the troublesome enforcement problem. It is based on the recognition that a completely cheatproof inspection and control system probably can never be achieved.

New Western approaches have been devised which U.S. and British diplomats and scientists think will provide an acid test of Russia's sincerity. Apparently the details are not so important as the change in the underlying philosophy of the Western approach.

Originally, the Western negotiators struggled to get a completely unbeatable control system. But Western informants now say the more the problem of detecting underground explosions is studied, the more it becomes apparent that some element of trust will have to be built into the treaty.

'REAL CHANCE'

Britain's chief delegate said on arrival today he sees "a very real chance" of a test ban being agreed to in a matter of weeks.

British Minister of State David Ormsby-Gore flew in from London at lunch time, and almost simultaneously Russia's Semyon Tsarapkin, who hates to fly, arrived by train from Moscow, via Prague.

Chief American delegate, Arthur H. Dean, has been here since late last week.

Western sources said the nuclear weapons conference may decide the future of U.S.-Soviet relations.

CHINESE WOMAN DEPORTED

Ousted Mother Leaves Baby

OTTAWA (CP) — A bewildered Chinese-born mother of a 29-month-old Canadian son left Canada Sunday for Hong Kong under a federal deportation order—without her child.

Mrs. Yuet Louie, petite 29-year-old daughter of Ottawa food merchant Harry Toy, was tired, lonely and hurt when she boarded a Trans-Canada Air Lines plane for Toronto to connect with a Canadian Pacific Airlines flight to Hong Kong.

Her decision to leave her son in Canada with his grandparents was a last-minute surprise in a deportation case that went to the Supreme Court of Canada.

Until a few days ago, Mrs. Louie planned to take her son with her, although the deportation order does not apply to the boy. However, this decision was changed when Mrs. Toy, her stepmother, offered to take care of him.

Leaving her husband and two sons in Hong Kong, Mrs. Louie entered Canada on a non-immigrant visa in December, 1957, to visit her father and stepmother. After the birth of her son the following August, she sought to have herself declared a legally-landed immigrant.

Her application was rejected.

True to traditions, Mrs. Louie and Mr. Toy kept their emotions under control when they said goodbye at the uplands. But there were tears in include husbands, wives, unmarried children under 21, mothers 60 or more.

Mr. Toy said in an interview that neither he nor his daughter are angry.

"We're just hurt," Mr. Toy said. "The minister of immigration could have exercised her discretion and let my daughter stay in Canada. It's been done before in less deserving cases."

Mr. Toy said he still hopes that his daughter and her husband and their two children in Hong Kong will be able to come to Canada. But he admitted that the immigration act will have to be changed before that can happen.

Under the act the only Chinese permitted to enter Canada as immigrants are close relatives of Canadian citizens or Chinese admitted to Canada for permanent residence. They

Soloists Robbed of Full Effect By 'Sandwich' Position on Stage

By AUDREY JOHNSON

Unfortunately, so much was reserved to gain a full climactic effect, that what went before became, frankly, pedestrian.

Four Last Songs of Richard Strauss were sung by Miss Guy, ably partnered by the orchestra.

The noted young Canadian singer has a full, lovely, melodic tone, particularly in her mezzo range.

WARMTH
There is exquisite perfection of musical detail in her work and warmth in her voice and personality that allowed her to give full significance to the Strauss lyricism.

Dr. Oscar Morawetz wrote

DISADVANTAGE

The four excellent soloists, headed by guest soprano Elizabeth Benson Guy, were at a disadvantage, being sandwiched between orchestra and chorus, the only position in which they could be placed under the circumstances of the Royal stage. This robbed the soloists of their full effects.

Baritone John Dunbar and Miss Guy were best able to overcome the disadvantage. Less fortunate were Peter Yelland who nevertheless revealed a pleasing and finely trained tenor, and gifted alto, June Gruber.

FROM MEMORY

Director Hans Gruber, who conducted the whole massive score from memory, did not in this instance succeed in engendering the vitality, the driving joyous surge of the first movement, or the rollicking merriment of the second.

It seemed that all vital forces were being hoarded and nurtured for the final outpouring.

his Dirge for Orchestra in tribute to memory of the late widely-known Canadian violinist, Elie Spivak.

To me it seemed a little long for the sustaining of a single mood, particularly as the latter part was less thematically interesting than much that had gone before.

In general, however, the mood was movingly created and the orchestration had a texture that was rich and imaginative.

Certainly it was given a satisfyingly effective performance by Mr. Gruber and the orchestra.

MODEL'S BODY FOUND BESIDE COUNTRY ROAD

WHITBY, Ont. (CP) — The body of an attractive Toronto model was found early Sunday on a country road near here. Almost 24 hours later she was identified through fingerprints as Mrs. Alice Margaret McCausland, 24, a divorcee from Timmins, Ont., who had been living in Toronto.

Discovery of the bruised and scratched body touched off an intensive manhunt by police.

Police speculated that Mrs. McCausland was murdered somewhere else — possibly in Metropolitan Toronto — and her body dumped from an automobile.

CHRIST CHURCH CATHEDRAL

Funeral Wednesday For Ex-Lumberman

Funeral service for Carl and was commissioned with the Fifth B.C. Regiment. He saw action in France and Belgium and was awarded the Military Cross.

He was active with the reorganized Fifth B.C. Coast Brigade between the wars and at the outbreak of the Second World War was mobilized again for active service.

He was later called back to civilian life by order of national defence headquarters.

Mr. Gonnason, a native of Victoria who lived at 630 Dallas Road, died here Saturday aged 69.

Interment will be in the family plot at Royal Oak.

The son of Benjamin and Anna Gonnason, his father was founder of Lemon and Gonnason lumber mills, known in later years as Crowe Gonnason Lumber Co.

LIVIDATED

It went into liquidation in 1958 after 70 years of operation: The empty buildings on Government Street burned in a spectacular blaze in February last year.

Educated in Victoria, Mr. Gonnason enlisted at the outbreak of the First World War.

Rites on Wednesday For Queen's Printer

Private funeral service will be held Wednesday for Queen's Printer Don McDiarmid, 55, who died at his home Saturday.

Chief of the provincial government's printing bureau for the last 15 years, he was well known locally as a sportsman and nationally as a leading member of the printing craft.

He had recently been a patient of Royal Jubilee and St. Joseph's Hospitals.

Following the family service at McCall's chapel, interment will be at Royal Oak Burial Park.

A printer for 40 years, he worked at the Queen's Printers well over 30 years, becoming its head on retirement in 1946 of Charles Banfield.

STARTED AS SWEEPER

He began as a sweeper in a type composing room just two years after his arrival in Victoria from Calgary with his family in 1917. Mr. McDiarmid was born in Medicine Hat.

As a youth he was active in many sports, including soccer and baseball, and in 1947 served as president of Victoria United Coast League football club.

He liked to bowl, fish, golf and travel in his spare time.

REGINA — A fifth infant died Sunday from a boracic acid solution that accidentally was mixed in baby formula at a hospital.

One baby died on Friday and three Saturday at the Grey Nuns Hospital here. Five others were reported in fair condition after being fed the poisonous formula which hospital authorities believe was mixed on Wednesday.

All of the infants were under eight days old.

The infants who died were identified as six-day-old Cynthia Jody Beck, five-day-old Debbie May Schlegel, eight-day-old Susan Gale Badley, six-day-old Ronald William Kostiak and six-day-old Robin Bruce Peace. An autopsy on the Beck child showed she died of boracic poisoning.

45 IN NURSERY

Hospital authorities said there were 45 babies in the nursery at the time of the tragedy. They said 23 were being breast fed while the remaining infants were being formula fed.

Dr. J. A. Dupont, medical director of the hospital, said Sunday no changes in procedure had been undertaken as yet in the preparation of formulas, distilling of water, or preparing boracic acid solutions.

He also said there had been no noticeable change in the number of admissions or discharges at the hospital.

"It is something which can happen in the best of hospitals," said Health Minister J. Erb. "In any procedure, there is always the possibility of human error."

"The Grey Nuns' Hospital is as fine a hospital as one would look for anywhere."

Mr. Erb said Attorney-General Robert A. Walker has directed the coroner to conduct an inquest.

"I want to make it clear that nothing will be withheld in making a full investigation of all the circumstances and people involved in this tragic incident."

He said no further action is planned by his department until after the inquest.

The hospital and the city police both were conducting investigations. A six-man coroner's jury was sworn in and adjourned but no date was set for an inquest.

Wage Offer Rejected

LONG MEETING FAILS TO EASE LAOS CRISIS

WASHINGTON (AP) — In an extraordinary five-hour conference Saturday United States Secretary of State Dean Rusk sought the co-operation of Soviet Foreign Minister Andrei A. Gromyko in bringing an early end to the civil war in Laos.

Apparently the talks failed, however, to make any immediate progress toward ending the crisis.

A joint statement said only that the two foreign ministers hope their discussion "will lead to a better mutual understanding of the positions and attitudes of both governments."

Fishermen Won't Strike This Year

VANCOUVER (CP) — There will be no coastwide strike this year of halibut fishermen in British Columbia and two American states.

Homer Stevens, secretary of the Independent United Fishermen and Allied Workers Union said today a bid to call a strike ballot on minimum prices has failed.

Although fishermen in Alaska were 94 per cent in favor of a strike and B.C. 74.1 per cent in favor, the figure in Washington State was only 38 per cent.

It was decided at earlier joint discussions that a two-thirds majority in each area would be needed for a strike.

"Bidding on the exchange by dealers will continue to fix prices to halibut fishermen at levels determined solely by the dealers," Mr. Stevens said.

of the filter cigarette

1 Exclusive "Humidor Process" restores natural moisture to every tobacco leaf

2 Nature's own filtering agent silken every puff

Nature knows it... so does Matinée: tobacco craves moisture! Dry, crumbling, thirsty tobacco can mean poor smoking.

The new, patented "Humidor Process"—exclusive to the makers of Matinée—breathes soft, moist air into every pore of every tobacco leaf. So every Matinée is packed firm, draws even, tastes cool... delivers full, fresh tobacco flavour.

And nature's own filter, made from the natural cellulose found in growing trees, silken your smoking—lets sweet, satisfying flavour come through.

Try a Matinée. You'll see.

30 seconds can switch you Matinée-way!

Tap It! Open a pack, tap-test a Matinée... no dry tobacco "fall-out" here!

Pinch It! No "gaps," no "soft spots"! Matinée is packed full and packed firm!

Taste It! Fresh-leaf flavour flows pure and cool through the Matinée filter!

naturally... MATINEE tastes right all day!

Morality and Politics

IN A QUESTION SO MOMENTOUS and incalculable it is not surprising that the debate on South Africa throughout the Commonwealth often strays from the essential facts.

Two facts, one moral and the other practical, compelled South Africa's resignation. If and when they can be altered it is to be hoped that South Africa will return.

The moral fact is that most of the Commonwealth nations would no longer tolerate within their membership a state which applies brutal, racist doctrines abhorrent to all free men.

As against this objection it is said that none of the Commonwealth nations is completely consistent or without blame in its treatment of racial minorities.

Of course that is true everywhere, including Canada. In human affairs no perfection and no complete consistency are ever to be expected. But a line must be drawn somewhere, a basic moral standard below which no Commonwealth nation must fall or else the Commonwealth, for all its protestations, will stand, morally, for nothing.

If the reach must always exceed the grasp in this most imperfect world, at least the Commonwealth must have some moral aim or admit its moral bankruptcy. By its refusal to admit any such aim or principle, by its view that black men not only are inferior to white but must never have the chance of equality or the franchise, South Africa confronted the Commonwealth with a terrible decision of morals.

That decision, was taken at London and may well have been the most important decision in Commonwealth history.

It is absurd to say now that the nations making the decision had no right to make it because, for example, social discrimination is practised against Negroes in Canada, because Australia has a "white" immigration policy, because Ghana and Pakistan are not democracies, because Britain has a racial problem.

None of these nations practises South Africa's deliberate method of permanently suppressing human beings because of the color of their skins, none says that a man must always be a second-class citizen, or no citizen at all, because his skin is black.

Freedom is a question of degree in all the Commonwealth nations, depending on the stage of their social evolution, but South Africa differs from the others in declaring by statute law that there shall never be freedom for certain people who happen to be the great majority. This, and this alone, was the moral issue which compelled the decision of London.

But even if the moral issue were ignored—as it was long and patiently ignored with the hope of some improvement in South Africa—there was a practical issue and it could no longer be evaded.

Those who say that the London decision was inconsistent in morals and wrong in practical affairs entirely overlook the actual politics of the Commonwealth.

Of the Commonwealth's people about four-fifths are not white. The colored nations refused to tolerate any longer South Africa's system of apartheid. If the white nations continued to tolerate that system it is certain that some or all of the colored nations would have withdrawn from the Commonwealth and smashed its present structure.

What the London conference finally faced was not only a question of morals but the threat of the Commonwealth's destruction, immediately or in stages.

Happily that awful issue was not presented as an issue between white men and black men. The world has not been told and may not be told for a long time precisely how the Commonwealth prime ministers spoke at London but Canada's position at least was not in doubt. Mr. Diefenbaker took a clear and courageous stand against apartheid and undoubtedly he will find support in all our political parties.

Evidently his position also found support among other white prime ministers at London. In terms of population, the decision was overwhelming if not unanimous, apart from South Africa. The decision was simply to preserve the Commonwealth and, in practical politics, it was unavoidable.

Had it gone the other way, had the white nations stood together in rejecting the will of the colored, then the Commonwealth would have become a group of white nations of relatively small population and lost at once its greatest purpose, its supreme opportunity, as a bridge between two worlds. The Commonwealth took its decision and both in morals and practical politics it could do no other.

12½ Cents on the Dollar

AS OFTEN AS THE CRY TO legalize lotteries is raised in Canada, a proponent of the plan cites the Irish Hospitals Sweepstake as the classic example of benefits from such schemes.

Not so frequently, opponents give the facts on the Irish sweep. The facts are not nearly as attractive as the sweepstake idea seems to be to those who favor it.

The Irish hospitals sweep is regarded as one of the best and most efficiently run in the world. Yet a royal commission has revealed that only one-eighth of the money contributed to the sweep actually goes to the hospitals it is supposed to help. The rest is diverted to prizes and administration. The hospitals get 12½ cents on the dollar—and this from an operation which is generally considered superior in its class.

The person who pays three dollars for an Irish Sweep ticket in effect contributes only the price of a package of cigarettes to the cause for which it is held.

The rest of his ticket purchase goes into a straight gamble, with appropriate deductions from the long-odds prize money to meet the costs of conducting the sweepstake.

Out of the Public Glare

THE KENNEDY POLICY OF "quiet diplomacy" seems to be in operation. Without much fanfare a number of diplomatic visits have been made recently which could well be laying the groundwork for future negotiation and settlement of serious problems.

U.S. Ambassador Thompson has talked with Mr. Khrushchev in Novosibirsk. Mr. Stevenson has undertaken a goodwill mission, Ambassador Harriman has been to half a dozen capitals, including London, Bonn, Rome, Rabat, and Teheran, and other indications point to effective work behind the scenes.

These moves are in contrast to the spectacular displays which have featured some United Nations gatherings, or the spotlighted summit talks. But noise doesn't necessarily mean that anything useful is being accomplished. The quiet, backroom meetings may have far-reaching consequences for it is there that the real thoughts of governments may be conveyed, and the real hopes of peace founded.

Katanga Holds the Key to Congo Unity and Tshombe Holds the Key to Katanga

WHATEVER people felt about Moise Tshombe, before the death of Mr. Lumumba, there is no doubt now that Mr. Tshombe, self-proclaimed President of the rich Katanga Republic, is the most reviled African in Africa today.

But Tshombe, who runs a State with mineral wealth estimated at $2,000,000,000, is also the rising star among Congolese leaders, the man who dominated the Madagascar conference on Congo unity.

Lumumbists boycotted the conference at the last minute because they hold Tshombe and his government responsible for the murder of their leader (Tshombe has ignored their charges, and invited Lumumba's lieutenants to talks in his own capital, Elisabethville).

However, the conference did make some progress. And Tshombe, from being the leader who at the time of the Congo's independence last July deliberately severed his mining province from the rest of the country, is now leading a movement of reunification.

Most Africans believe that Tshombe has always simply been a Belgian stooge. On the other hand, Belgian liberals believe that the Belgian government and mining interests have been Tshombe's stooges.

Neither wholly trusts the other; each needs the other, but either could—if it suited them—change sides.

Tshombe has many grievances against the Belgians. He has never forgiven them for refusing to recognize the independence of Katanga, and to back him with effective military support to prevent the United Nations troops from entering his republic.

He reacts against their paternalism; he has never forgotten that when he was a young man the Belgians refused to allow him to study law abroad. He also strongly resents their attempts to prevent his government from recruiting non-Belgians.

But, above all, he is engaged in constant arguments with them over money. All the payment for Katanga's exports are collected in Antwerp, where the Belgians operate a blocked account for the Congo. It is from this account that they release funds—not Belgian, but Congolese money—to their chosen favorites in the Congo. This, for example, is the way they help General Mobutu to pay his army.

Moise Tshombe shares two outstanding characteristics with the Belgian financiers who are at present among his strongest supporters. He is strongly bourgeois, and he is passionately money-minded.

He is a member of the royal family of the Lunda—a powerful tribe which straddles Katanga and Northern Rhodesia—and is married to the paramount chief's daughter, by whom he has ten children. His father was a remarkably successful businessman who owned a chain of stores and a European hotel. When he got into difficulties he was helped by his feet by the Union Minière, Katanga's mining giant.

After completing his junior secondary education in an American-staffed Methodist school, young Tshombe joined his father's business. Ten years ago, when he was thirty-three, he inherited a considerable estate. But he soon ended up in the bankruptcy courts. Like his father he was helped to his feet by the Union Minière.

Tshombe was in many respects the ideal of what Belgian colonial policy was trying to produce. He was solidly middle class; he respected Europeans; he gladly accepted the privilege of "immatriculation" whereby he evolved to equality—at least in theory—with Belgians. And he set his face against nationalist politics. But he never quite lost his capacity for independent decision.

However, there is also about him something of the bluffer and the gambler. His manner is flamboyant, even comical. He dresses with "foppish elegance. He fills his private rooms with large paintings and pictures of himself in full evening dress.

He will stop at nothing to denigrate his opponents; once it was President Kasavubu, whom he denounced as a Communist; then Lumumba; then the United Nations' Dr. Bunge. Now he accuses Mr. Dayal of being the spearhead of Indian imperialism.

But for all his outward gaiety and charm, Tshombe has become increasingly lonely and embittered in recent months. He feels particularly strongly about the antipathy of other African leaders.

Tshombe's own part in the death of Lumumba remains a mystery. Why did he ever agree to Lumumba being brought to Katanga?

BUT I COULDN'T COME UP WITH ANY.

SO AFTER GIVING IT A LOT OF THOUGHT I CONCLUDED ITS LESS IMPORTANT TO KNOW THE RIGHT ANSWERS THAN TO BE ABLE TO PHRASE THE RIGHT QUESTIONS.

BUT THE ONLY QUESTION I COULD COME UP WITH WAS "YOU BUM-ARMY ARE YOU LIVING HERE?"

SO I FINALLY SAW THAT THE ROOT OF MY PROBLEM LAY NEITHER IN FINDING THE RIGHT ANSWER NOR IN PHRASING THE RIGHT QUESTIONS.

THE ROOT OF MY PROBLEM LAY IN THE AWARENESS THAT IF THE RIGHT QUESTION COULD BE PHRASED THEN A RIGHT ANSWER UNDOUBTEDLY MIGHT BE FOUND.

NOW KNOWING THIS HAS ALLOWED ME TO TRANSCEND THE SHALLOW DILEMMA OF SEEKING ANSWERS OR PHRASING QUESTIONS IN ORDER TO ASSUAGE MY GUILT. I KNOW AT LAST WHY ITS INEVITABLE THAT I LIE HERE AS I NOW LIE!

I'M GROWING.

A Layman Looks at a Few of the Latest Theatricals

By B. A. TOBIN

ALTHOUGH I have not, unfortunately, been asked to adjudicate any of the recent plays to which I have been exposed, it is difficult to let the theatrical season slip by without some attempt at criticism. Even a layman should have an opportunity to praise the good points and investigate the bad, and form an opinion on the presentations as a whole. The following criticisms are therefore offered in the spirit in which they originated and it is hoped that they will be received in similar vein.

Tobin

"Labor's Loves Lost," presented by the Legislative Players. This is a farce whose basic nonsense was well sustained throughout by all the cast, the lead parts as well as the supporting actors. The plot revolves around the disposition of some money belonging to a number of workmen, and the hilarious arguments into which the proposers of various solutions get calculated to bring tears to the eyes of any audience.

The part of Minister, played by Mr. Peterson, was admirably developed. His two lengthy appearances on stage, during which he delivered long monologues, were all that was needed to spark the rest of the cast into an outstanding performance.

Mr. Strachan, playing the part of Accuser, reached moments of high drama but at no point forgot that the treatment must be fundamentally comic. The mock seriousness with which all characters threw themselves into the verbal battle gave added enjoyment to the audience, which knew, of course, that the heroics of the moment would have no effect on the outcome.

The result was a night of unalloyed theatrical pleasure which is rarely enjoyed here. Mr. Bennett gave strong support in his role as Chief. Mr. Shantz, while adequate, was open to question on a number of points.

The crowd scenes tended to get out of hand on one or two occasions, but firmer stage direction could remedy this.

Costumes were more or less contemporary and the stage setting, a public forum in pseudo-classical style, was well chosen.

Summary: Fun in striped pants.

"Then There Were Ten," presented by the Commonwealth Masquers. This play, a tragedy in the Greek tradition, is set in present-day London.

Summary: A sombre tale with a moral.

"Chaos," presented by the Black and White Troupe. Music by Bartok. This presentation is more of a ballet than a play, but the introduction of occasional speaking parts removes it from the usual category of dances.

Its theme is tragedy throughout. A group of children, kept all their lives under the strict surveillance of their elders, are suddenly left on their own. The opening ballet sequence depicts the first surge of unbelieving independence, the new experience of freedom and choice. But this is followed quickly by the realization of inadequacy through lack of preparation.

In rapidly mounting horror the audience sees the liberty turn to licence, the freedom revert to savagery. The thin veneer of training is scraped off overnight and the jungle reasserts itself.

It is at this point that the producers introduce a babel of loud, accusing voices, shouting charge and counter charge. In a bedlam of prayers and jungle cries, political slogans and battle yells, the adults try to return. But some of them are swept up in the maelstrom of noise and emotion; the rest cannot restore order without the risk of destroying some of the children.

The curtain comes down on a scene of unparalleled violence, disorder and grief, as the corps de ballet portrays a watching world which in its various parts exhibits sorrow, generosity, contempt and opportunism.

Summary: Overplayed. It could not happen in real life.

Australian Movie Censorship: The Borderline Is Thin

By R. L. CLUTHOYS

MELBOURNE—Year by year, especially since continental films have followed increasingly in the wake of immigration from Europe—the problems of the Australian film censorship board have been growing more complex. Last year the Commonwealth film censor, Mr. Colin Campbell, and his staff of three men and three women, viewed 400 feature films—fewer than in preceding years—and adjudged more than half of them unsuitable to general exhibition.

Seven were rejected outright; several others were screened after partial reconstruction by the importers; and 170 cuts were made, most of them short ones, on grounds of excessive violence, bad language or sheer indecency.

There are only two Australian classifications—"suitable to general exhibition" and "not suitable for children." The onus is upon parents to see that their youngsters do not view films in the second category.

As Our Readers See It

Union Dues and Politics

It is quite possible your editorial of 19th March, comparing the use of union funds for political purposes, may be misleading. As I understand, the deduction of union dues by a third party, the employer, is almost unheard of in Britain.

Such being the case, it is very unlikely that it is required by law. Possibly, owing to the much older establishment via the craft union route, it has been a matter of some pride with British unions that they need no help to run their internal affairs, including their methods of finance.

If such be the case the "contracting in" or "contracting out" for political donations, to which you refer, has nothing to do with the "check-off" as we know it here. Most probably it refers to the collection of contributions from members by the union itself.

"INTERESTED."

This rather loose way of administering the law casts on the censor the onus of taking a strict view of spectacles which might have a bad influence on children.

There are organizations in several states which want to make the protection of young people from vicious films not the moral responsibility of often careless parents but the legal responsibility of theatre managers.

Since television deprived Australian film distributors of much of their audience they have been concentrating on films they think will appeal to those who discount television. Most of these have been of considerable artistic merit but some have deliberately exaggerated sex and violence, if only as by products of their main themes.

Here the borderline is thin and the regulations under which censors work have been vaguely drawn, perhaps deliberately. The censorship board is directed to take action against films it considers blasphemous, indecent, harmful to morals or merely "undesirable in the public interest." So much is left to the good sense of the censor that the board has promulgated as few hard-and-fast rules as possible.

But no censor can please the intellectual minority, interested in directors' methods and ideas, which insists that Australians should be treated as an adult community, able to digest the strongest fare.

Where bloodshed and violence are encountered the director's treatment of an individual sequence is regarded as more important than the nature of the scene itself. If the censor is satisfied that the dominant motive is to present a serious work of art, casting and acting help him to a decision.

In a tender love story in present-day Hiroshima some torrid love scenes and a sequence of harrowing shots of the city in the aftermath of the atom bomb were passed. So was a horrible murder scene in Alfred Hitchcock's "Psycho," in which allowance was made for a film of extraordinary technical merit.

On the other hand, family comedies from U.K. film studios have repeatedly been cut for suggestive remarks and innuendoes not deemed wholesome fare for youngsters.

Work for Handicapped

Emeritus Consultant in Medicine, Mayor Clinic and Emeritus Professor of Medicine, Mayo Foundation

Mr. Henry Viscardi, Jr., president of Abilities, Inc., of Albertson, N.Y., is one of America's most useful citizens. He just wrote me that, around 1951, he started a manufacturing plant with four workers to help him—all of them crippled.

Alvarez

His idea was: what difference does it make if a man has paralyzed legs and only one arm and hand, if with his remaining arm and hand he can work each day at a bench assembling hundreds of pieces of needed apparatus.

By the end of 1953, Viscardi had 37 crippled or handicapped workers, some of them blind and deaf and epileptic, some of them with a high blood pressure and a bad heart, many of them in a wheelchair, and many on crutches.

By the end of 1959, he had 348 workers who were putting out manufactured products worth $2,170,000. They were competing on equal terms with other ordinary shops.

In these last eight years, Mr. Viscardi figures that his people have contributed to their community and the nation nearly 18 million worth of services and money. In addition, just think what those jobs and pay checks have meant to these people and their families, in dignity and self-respect and happiness.

Often we give a disabled man a pension, but that isn't what he wants. He wants work, and often he could do a good job. What if he does have to do his work sitting in a wheelchair? What if he had a high blood pressure, or a bad heart, or only one eye, or no hearing?

Today, many able men keep telling us that if we are to hold our own in the production race with Russia, we must use to good advantage all of our manpower. But we are wasting more and more of this national wealth.

We are saying to millions of men and women over 65: "You are too old; go on home." Or, our employment managers by the hundred are saying to men of 50, "You are too old; or they are saying to thousands of epileptics, "Because a few times a year you fall down, you can't have a job."

At Abilities, Inc., if an epileptic falls down, no one thinks anything about it, and no one thinks of firing him. As a result of the feeling of security that comes to the man, he tends, with time, to lose his fits.

I keep reading the strict regulations that company physicians have set up for the guidance of their employment managers. If an applicant confesses to once having had a heart attack, he is likely to be turned down. He might some day drop dead at his desk. What of it, if for five or 10 years he does a magnificent job? Mr. Viscardi employs such men just so long as they can do a good day's work.

I have many friends—physicians with a large practice—who have been hard at work for years, in spite of the fact that they once had one or two bad heart attacks.

One big objection against putting disabled men to work is that if the man should drop dead while on the job, his widow might sue for some huge sum, and get it from a jury made up of the sort of kindly people who assume that the thing to do in these cases is to see to it that the widow gets her money.

As I wrote a while ago, once when an employer was kind enough to give a job to an epileptic, and later, when at work, the man fell in a fit and was badly hurt, his wife sued and was awarded heavy damages.

I was much distressed over this court decision and still am. Why? Because if our millions of people with physical handicaps are ever to be employed, our courts will have to do something from unfair damage suits those employers who are kind enough and public-spirited enough to employ the people who are not whole, and not in perfect health.

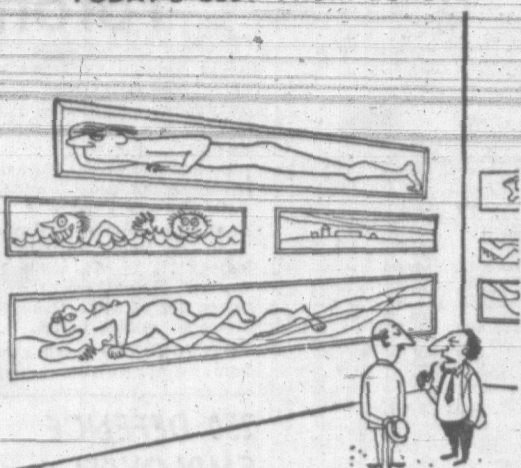

Nowadays, I keep getting letters from widows who say, "My husband who had a big high blood pressure, dropped dead at work. Now, my friends are urging me to sue. They think maybe I can claim that the death was due to hard work, or worry over the work, or fumes from some chemical used in the plant. Do you think I should bring suit?"

Although I have the deepest sympathy for the unhappy woman, I have deep sympathy, also, for the employer. I am sure he should not be sued.

What I would like to see set up would be a commission of a few able physicians, health officers, experts on industrial health, and some fine public-spirited lawyers or retired judges of great good sense and probity who would meet with all widows and others who are thinking of suing; they would quickly examine their claims, and often decide in a few minutes which ones should be taken to court, and which shouldn't.

Then, I would like to see some mechanism set up, perhaps for a brief review, when necessary, of these decisions, by a bank of fine judges sitting with a few wise old physicians.

DELEGATES LAUD GOVERNMENT

B.C. 'Halt Arms' Move Overwhelmed by Tories

OTTAWA (CP)—A short-lived appeal against nuclear weapons for Canada sparked the closing minutes of the Progressive Conservative Party's annual meeting Saturday.

But the proposal by Mary Southin of Vancouver for Canadian renunciation of such weapons was overwhelmed by votes as delegates approved a sheaf of resolutions generally laudatory of Conservative government policies.

One of the few surprises in the package, drafted by a resolutions committee behind closed doors, was the suggestion of a compulsory retirement age for senators. No age limit was mentioned. It was passed without comment.

This could be the party's last meeting before the next election. But Prime Minister Diefenbaker, in an unscheduled speech Saturday morning, gave no hint of it.

He said there will be an election "when we have completed the discharge of our duties." The government still had some major projects to submit to Parliament.

While most of the resolutions stood pat on government policy, some of the proposals called on the government to break new ground in such fields as agriculture, industrial development and social security.

The government was urged to put on a permanent annual basis the acreage payments it made to western grain growers in 1958 and 1960.

A national development fund was recommended to encourage secondary industry and "assure fuller participation by Canadians in our industry."

The government was asked to consider implementing the program of contributory social security it has been studying for 2½ years.

Another new idea was for a government department of youth, with aims including national sports and physical fitness and the combatting of juvenile delinquency.

None of these sparked the lively debate touched off by draft resolutions on defence which were in line with government policy.

Miss Southin, a British Columbia representative on the national executive, presented an amendment saying Canada should not obtain nuclear weapons or permit storage of such weapons in Canada by any other country.

Egan Chambers, parliamentary secretary to Defence Minister Harkness, said it would be a disservice to the armed forces to deny them the weapons they might need in defending the country.

In the vote among some 500 delegates in the hall, only three hands were raised in support of Miss Southin's proposal.

One issue which stirred the Liberal rally two months ago—recognition of Communist China—caused not a ripple among the Conservatives.

Delegates approved without discussion a resolution calling for practical steps toward making "effective contact" with Red China in the fields of disarmament and trade.

Dief 'Playing Politics' S. Africa Official Claims

LONDON (CP)—External Affairs Minister Eric Louw, of South Africa, accused Prime Minister Diefenbaker Sunday of striking the last blow that knocked South Africa out of the Commonwealth.

In a press release issued before he left for home Louw also charged that Diefenbaker had collaborated with Commonwealth Afro-Asian nations against South Africa to increase his political stature at home.

During the Commonwealth Prime Ministers' Conference, Louw said, Prime Minister Hendrik Verwoerd of South Africa had agreed to a communiqué including criticisms of apartheid that had been made by Canada and the Afro-Asians.

Louw said this came as a surprise to the Afro-Asian Canadian bloc, which thereupon pressed South Africa even further.

"It was after Ghana and Nigeria had indicated that they might move for the expulsion of South Africa from the Commonwealth that Mr. Diefenbaker forced the issue by proposing that the communiqué should contain a paragraph condemning South African policies," he said.

'MOVED BY POLITICS'
Louw's press statement said Diefenbaker's action in joining with the Afro-Asians "was motivated by considerations of political expediency."

"He has been losing ground in Canada and is pandering to the anti-South African campaign carried on in the Canadian press as well as in clerical and ultra-liberalistic circles," said Louw.

He said Prime Minister Verwoerd "had no option but to withdraw his request for continued membership in the Commonwealth" after South Africa becomes a republic May 31 because of the expulsion threats and Diefenbaker's proposal.

Cabbage Needs Firm Planting

Time has been spent this past week in the pricking out of seedlings of various kinds of cabbage.

Included in this group of cabbages are the summer cauliflower and cabbage, both fairly quick growing, and Brussels sprouts, red cabbage and green broccoli for early fall.

All cabbage require firm planting, and this applies equally to the seedlings at pricking-out time. Even the soil mixture for this purpose can be heavier than for most seedlings. It may contain more soil, less humus.

The cabbage family come to grief in an acid soil, therefore lime is essential to their well-being.

LIGHT DUSTING

The lightest dusting of hydrated lime is added to the soil mixture, and the dibber is dipped into lime before making each hole.

These plants are all quite hardy—once they get well rooted into flats of soil. The seedlings will need cold frame shelter for only about 10 days.

They can then stand on the sheltered side of a cold frame, greenhouse or other building until the ground is ready for planting them out.

MID-APRIL

Most gardeners plant these brassicas, as the group is known, too late. They should be planted out into the garden by mid-April so that they can develop good roots during the cooler weather and make their top growth in the warmer days.

Setting out cabbage plants at the same time as tomatoes towards the end of May means a loss of four to six weeks of growing time.

He said there will be an election "when we have completed the discharge of our duties." The government still had some major projects to submit to Parliament.

While most of the resolutions stood pat on government policy, some of the proposals called on the government to break new ground in such fields as agriculture, industrial development and social security.

The government was urged to put on a permanent annual basis the acreage payments it made to western grain growers in 1958 and 1960.

A national development fund was recommended to encourage secondary industry and "assure fuller participation by Canadians in our industry."

The government was asked to consider implementing the program of contributory social security it has been studying for 2½ years.

Another new idea was for a government department of youth, with aims including national sports and physical fitness and the combatting of juvenile delinquency.

None of these sparked the lively debate touched off by draft resolutions on defence which were in line with government policy.

Miss Southin, a British Columbia representative on the national executive, presented an amendment saying Canada should not obtain nuclear weapons or permit storage of such weapons in Canada by any other country.

Egan Chambers, parliamentary secretary to Defence Minister Harkness, said it would be a disservice to the armed forces to deny them the weapons they might need in defending the country.

In the vote among some 500 delegates in the hall, only three hands were raised in support of Miss Southin's proposal.

One issue which stirred the Liberal rally two months ago—recognition of Communist China—caused not a ripple among the Conservatives.

Delegates approved without discussion a resolution calling for practical steps toward making "effective contact" with Red China in the fields of disarmament and trade.

How much money must you have to need a Family Security Check-Up?

Whether he earns less than $100 a week or more than $1000, a man with a wife and family has to plan for their future security. In fact, the more a dollar means to you, the more carefully you must plan to be sure your family gets the best protection for your money.

You have to know, for example, how much your pension will provide. Whether your insurance dovetails with your mortgage. How much your family would need to live the way you want them to live.

Now Metropolitan, the company you look to for authoritative information on health, offers every father a way to answer such questions—The Family Security Check-Up. You'll see, at the right, all the steps you go through to satisfy yourself that the provisions you have made for your family will do what you intend.

Your local Metropolitan representative has been trained in Metropolitan's own schools and is qualified by solid experience to bring you this service. He is equipped with scientifically designed charts and tables that show you, in black and white, exactly where you stand.

Call your Metropolitan man for your Family Security Check-Up. There's no obligation—except to those you love.

WHAT IS A FAMILY SECURITY CHECK-UP?

1. You check the facts: your pension plan, your home, your life insurance, your savings and other assets. You may be surprised to learn how much you're worth.
2. You weigh your responsibilities: mortgage or rent payments, education, retirement, accident and sickness emergencies; how much it would cost your family to live without you.
3. You learn where you stand. You determine your weak and strong points... whether the provisions you have made for your family will do what you intend. You get the facts in front of you.
4. You plan for the future. Based on these facts, you decide what action, if any, may be needed to give you a family security plan, tailor-made to your own needs and ambitions—one which makes good sense for you.

Season's Program For Riders

Colwood Trail Riders will open a busy social and activity season with a one-day trail ride on April 2 to the Brotherston farm in the Highlands.

Because of the numbers expected, there will be two morning rallying points, at Millstream Road for the Colwood-Langford-Metchosin riders, and Interurban and Wilkinson for those living in the city and Saganich peninsula.

The group will hold a hard-times dance April 7 at Colwood Hall, when the highlight will be election of a queen to appear in the May 22 parade in the city, and to reign over other events during the year.

Complete program follows:
April 30 — Second one-day ride to Brotherston farm
May — Victoria Day parade
June 15 — Colwood Trail Riders play day
July 1-2 — Endurance ride in Shawnigan Lake and return
Aug. 15-19 — Luncheon Fair
Aug. 28 — Colwood Trail Riders annual symposium
Dec. 15 — Annual Christmas dance

NEWS OF THE ISLAND

LAKE COWICHAN—Board of School District 66 will conduct a survey of the district to determine whether new classrooms must be built in the five-year period starting in 1962.

It will be undertaken as a result of Chant Commission recommendations.

The survey will be directed by R. S. Price, district superintendent of schools, and Sid Watson, board secretary-treasurer. Extra clerical help will be engaged for the project.

LAKE COWICHAN—A Teen Town has been organized here with Lake Cowichan Volunteer Fire Department members as sponsors.

Officers are Lorne Fiske, mayor; Donna Pierce, vice-mayor; Sylvia Sayers, secretary; Adrian Pecknold Jr., treasurer.

Aldermen are Bob Cooper, Judy LaForge, Greg Lincoln, Bill Irving, Lynn Dorward, Ralph Weekstrom, Brenda Ross, Tom Weaver, Ernest McTaggart and Karen McTaggart.

Lois Weismiller will be Vancouver Island Teen Town representative. The group hopes to raise money for community projects as part of its work.

CHEMUNUS—North Cowichan council, at a special weekend meeting, awarded a contract to Farmer Construction Ltd. of Victoria for the relaying of part of the Chemunus sewer outfall.

The firm's bid, lowest of four, was $2,247, exclusive of the cost of pipe and other fittings, which have been purchased.

Renewal of the outfall pipe to connect with the new extension laid three years ago is expected to clear up the pollution problem at Kinsmen Beach here.

LADYSMITH—Magistrate W. H. Bryant sentenced Lawrence James Henderson, Chemunus, and Myron Haglof, Vancouver, to three months suspended sentence for obstructing a police officer.

The RCMP constable was attempting to seize liquor from a car when the two men interfered.

LADYSMITH—S. R. Kirkland Construction Limited of Ladysmith has been awarded contracts for wharf repairs at Redonda Bay, amounting to $17,000, and at Mayne Island for $13,000.

LADYSMITH—New officers of Ladysmith Baseball Association are Clare Cowles, president; Ted Church, Jim Taylor, and Wally Robinson, vice-presidents; Betty MacDonald, secretary; Mrs. J. T. Story, treasurer; Bun Eamer and Arne Hill, directors; Jack McDonald, Little League chairman; Wally Robinson, Pony League; Arne Hill, Colt League.

NANAIMO—Jaycees from Nanaimo will join members from the rest of the Island in a district meeting slated at Campbell River on April 15-16.

A "speak-off" will be held for Jaycee orators, senior and junior divisions.

GANGES—Bruce Murakami and Lorelei Nitsch were senior and junior high school winners respectively in the oratorical contest sponsored here by Salt Spring Island P.T.A.

In second place were Ronald Bonar and Russell Thorburn. Judges were Dr. T. L. Jansch, Mrs. M. Wells, and Robert Holloman.

LANGFORD—Two speakers provided by Victoria branch, Canadian National Institute for the Blind, will speak on eye care at a meeting of Belmont Parent-Teacher Council March 27 at 8 p.m. in Belmont High School.

Final arrangements for the school-council bazaar to be held in April will be made at the meeting.

Operator Killed When Crane Tips

TOFINO — Harvey Wingen, 35-year-old crane operator, was killed here Sunday in a freak industrial accident.

Police said Wingen, operating a crane on a new barge in Hecate Bay, went out to investigate a sharp noise when the crane toppled over and carried him to his death.

A search for the body was begun Sunday by the department of transport lifeboat crew headed by Coxswain E. R. Hagell, RCMP Cpl. William Steen, and local skindivers, and continued today.

Scene of the tragedy is 30 miles northwest of here.

BOLTS SHEARED — Police said investigation revealed all bolts holding the crane to the barge had sheared off.

Surviving are the widow and three children, Tommy, seven, and Joseph, five, at home, and Vera Lee, nine, who attends St. Ann's Academy in Victoria.

Flooding Survey Asked

DUNCAN — Cowichan Kokshah River Improvement Board will ask the provincial water rights branch for a full survey of Cowichan Lake and Cowichan River as part of the study to relieve the flood problem in this area.

Members suggested the survey might supply additional detail not contained in the Prairie Farm Rehabilitation Act report of 1958 which is the basis for all permanent flood improvements planned at present.

It was agreed that all engineers in the area will try to find immediate solutions to local flooding, and fit these into a single scheme for the whole area.

Represented at the meeting were Duncan city council, North Cowichan council water rights branch, Indian Affairs branch, federal fisheries department, and MacMillan, Bibedel, and Powell River Ltd.

PUBLIC DEBATE ON TREE FARMS

Gibson Challenges Clyne

A public debate with a forest magnate has been proposed by North Vancouver Liberal MLA J. Gordon Gibson.

Mr. Gibson has challenged J. V. Clyne, chairman of the board of MacMillan, Bloedel and Powell River to debate the policy of granting tree farm licences by the provincial government.

Mr. Clyne said last week Mr. Gibson was "reckless and irresponsible" after a speech in the legislature attacking this policy.

"I am fighting for equal opportunity for future generations," said Mr. Gibson. He said Mr. Clyne's remark put him into the arena of public affairs and he should therefore be willing to debate this issue in public.

Two Absent, But Cats Clip Bucks at Portland

Cougars Improve Position With Split in Road Games

Cougars 5, Buckaroos 3
By ERNIE FEDORUK

PORTLAND — Victoria Cougars came up with the split they were seeking in two weekend games and today they are only a short skip from clinching a berth in the Western Hockey League playoffs.

A near-capacity crowd of 9,837 fans that filled Portland's sparkling new ice rink might not have enjoyed it, and even Cougar supporters must admit the team's 5-3 victory over the Buckaroos came as something of a surprise.

That was the decision that gave the Cougars their split and the surprise was that they accomplished it minus the services of two regulars injured in Saturday's 5-2 defeat in Seattle.

Defenceman Leo Amadio, who suffered a pulled leg muscle Saturday, and centre Barrie Ross, who came up with an ailing back, sat out Sunday's game.

The shortage in manpower hardly hurt the Cats. The shortage, in fact, proved to be the stimulant that prompted the Cougars to turn in a solid team performance. They free-wheeled in fine fashion and parlayed strong efforts by their defence into their first win of the season on Portland ice.

Winger Doug Macauley, who managed only one goal and one assist in the eight previous meetings with the Buckaroos, sparked the Cats with two goals. And, as always, Macauley was a bear defensively with his tenacious checking.

Also standing out for Victoria were Gerry Goyer and Bill Saunders. Goyer connected for his 30th goal of the year, as did Saunders, who also made the plays for two others.

Defenceman Jim Hay clicked for Cougars' other goal on a screened slapshot from the blueline in the early minutes of the game.

Hay Returns After 12-Stitch Injury

Portland, as in their 3-2 loss to Victoria Friday, again relied heavily on the services of their big production line of Art Jones, Gordy Fashoway and Arnie Schmutz. Portland looked like just another hockey club when that line was resting.

Fashoway and Schmutz each scored a goal and Ron Matthews added the third. Fashoway's counter and the one by Matthews both came with Cougars short-handed through penalties. That ran Portland's total output on power plays to 44 for the year. All Victoria rearguards, getting plenty of help from their wingmen for a change, played well. They met most Portland rushes at centre ice and the tactics continually kept Portland's attack in a state of disorganization.

Goalie Marcel Pelletier, for a third straight game, was his usual steady self. He made particularly fine saves on Fashoway, Bill McCulley, Gord Haworth and Larry Leach among his 27 stops.

Hay came out of the fray with a nasty cut on the forehead when clipped by a stray stick. It took 12 stitches to close the wound but he was back just before the first period ended.

The game was well-handled by referee Bill Papp, who clamped down on rough play at the start with two quick penalties to the Buckaroos. Both hurt the Portland crew. Goyer got his goal while Matthews was in the penalty box and then Hay connected with a high-coiling call.

In all, Portland drew four penalties and the Cougars six.

Cats Played With Three Rearguards

In Saturday's game at Seattle, three rapid goals in the second period sent Cougars down to their first loss in four games.

Old pro Rudy Filion, Murray Wilkie, Ed Stankiewicz, Don Chiupka and Bill MacFarland fired home Seattle goals. Saunders and George Ford replied for Victoria.

The damaging tallies, however, proved to be the counter by Stankiewicz, Wilkie and Chiupka, all scored in the span of seven minutes to break a 1-1 deadlock. At that, Cougars were a bit unfortunate in not getting closer. McLeod, who played an exceptionally strong game for the Cats, rattled a shot off a goal post at the 15-minute mark of the second period and Saunders intercepted a pass for a breakaway run at the Totem goal but shot wide with Bev Bentley at his mercy.

Agar was forced to juggle his lineup for the start of the second period after Amadio was hurt. Jim Moro moved to the first line with Goyer and Ford while Wayne North stepped back on defence.

The shuffling seemed to take some of the organization out of Cougars' play Saturday but more changes Sunday afternoon reversed the trend.

Agar was forced to go with only three defencemen Sunday, playing North on defence for the time Hay was being treated for his injury.

Agar had high praise for his defencemen, especially Currie. McLeod, too, enjoyed a good weekend on strength of his play in Seattle and Portland.

McLeod was perhaps the best of the defencemen. He cleared well, threw several stiff checks and rushed with authority and confidence.

Seattle Curlers Take U.S. Crown

GRAND FORKS, N.D. (AP) — The Dr. Frank Crealock rink of Seattle captured the U.S. curling championship Saturday by defeating the H. Douglas McNab rink of San Francisco 10-4 in the finals.

The Washington State crew thus qualified for the world series of curling in Scotland next week. Other entries are Canada, represented by the Hec Gervais rink of St. Albert, Alta., and Scotland.

The title-winning U.S. team is made up of Ken Sherwood, vice-skip; John Jamieson, Bud McCartney and Crealock. All but McCartney are Canadians now living in Washington.

College Leading In Boot Loop

Victoria College retained its Combination Soccer League lead over Victoria Virtus during the weekend with a 4-1 win over Cape Breton.

In other games Virtus edged City Firefighters 4-2 and City Employees nipped Naval Firefighters 3-2.

The 21-year-old sprinter, now employed in Vancouver, ran a world record-breaking 60 yards here last March in 6.6 seconds. A recent leg injury he suffered in training may have added incentive to the retirement decision.

Manitoba Ignored in Dominion Boot Playoffs

Ignoring protests of Manitoba delegates that they were "being thrown out the window," the association approved on an experimental basis to limit 1961 competition to top British Columbia teams and the champions of the National and Eastern Professional Soccer Leagues, which operate in Ontario and Quebec.

B.C. will organize its own playoffs and declare a representative for the national final.

Les Digby of Belleville, Ont., and Bert Lipshaw of Toronto took the lead in calling for reorganization of the CSFA's policy on Canadian tours by United Kingdom clubs.

Digby suggested an earlier start in negotiations. "I'm not reflecting on the calibre of Birmingham City (which tours Canada next summer) but I think we could assure ourselves of a top calibre team if we got to work on the next tour immediately we finish the current one."

"We need a team that is a household word, one that we can promote. This is big business."

Settlement of a three-cornered dispute among the CSFA, the B.C. Soccer Commission and the Pacific Coast Soccer League cleared the way for a visit to Canada next August by Real Madrid, 1960

Lou Jankowski Fires 51st Goal

CALGARY—Lou Jankowski scored his 51st goal of the season here Saturday to tie teammate Ron Leopold in their race for the Western Hockey League record of 58 as Calgary Stampedeers downed Vancouver Canucks, 4-2, before 5,200 fans.

Jankowski also assisted on a second-period goal by Bill Burega to bring his league-leading total to 93, two more than Leopold and five more than defending champion Guyle Fielder of Seattle Totems and Art Jones of Portland.

Jimmy Brown and Don Wilson scored the other Calgary goals. Jim Powers and Dan Bellisle replied for Canucks, who have now lost five games in a row on Calgary ice.

The loss all but finished Vancouver's hopes of placing second. With five games to play, they trail Portland by six points, and the Bucks have three games in hand.

Huge Welcome For Smokies

TRAIL (CP) — The British Columbia West Kootenays Sunday opened up its heart and threw away the key.

Crowds, estimated by some to total 20,000, cheered and wept as the world hockey champion Trail Smoke Eaters arrived from their triumph in Switzerland.

Women with babes in arms, old men in wheel chairs, jammed an airport, lined a highway and crowded the streets of this city of almost 12,000 to cheer the team and the World Cup that was held high for all to see.

ROAD JAMMED
Hundreds of cars crawled along a mountain highway behind the team as it headed a triumphal procession from the airport at Castlegar, 22 miles away, to Trail.

A parade that included nine bands wound through the city, frequently halted as fans ran into the street to greet players.

It was the biggest celebration in the city's history and attracted fans from throughout the Kootenays where the Smoke Eaters play in the four-team Western International Hockey League.

The emotion was not one-sided. Trail coach Bobby Kromm and his wife could barely speak to each other when they had a tearful reunion.

Thousands jammed the tiny airport at Castlegar when the team arrived from Calgary, wearing cowboy hats that were a gift from the prairie city. They also wore their brilliant red jackets.

The cavalcade passed thousands more on the road to Trail with WHL president Ernie Cook holding the World Cup up high every time they passed a group of fans.

The small villages along the way had their greetings. At Oasis a resident lighted two massive bonfires in his front garden and at Riverdale a Russian Wolfhound carried the sign: "We hounded those Russians to death!"

In a brief ceremony in front of Memorial Arena the team was greeted by Mayor Les Read and other officials. There coach Kromm said the Russians, defeated 5-1 on the last day, were the toughest team in the championship.

The team returned without Claude Cyr and Michel Legace, of Montreal; Darryl Sly, of Toronto; Jackie McLeod, of Moose Jaw, Sask., and Walt Pedcock, of Penticton.

Two thousand fans are expected to attend a welcome home banquet and dance here Wednesday.

Powell River Evens Playoff

POWELL RIVER (CP) — Powell River Regals swept a weekend intermediate hockey series here shutting out Nanaimo Labatts 5-0 to level their best-of-five British Columbia Coy Cup semi-final series.

Fifth and deciding game will be played in Nanaimo tonight. Nanaimo won the first two games on home ice. The winner meets Trail in the Kootenay city next weekend in the best-of-three series for the Coy Cup and the provincial intermediate title.

Wally Anderson, Bob Kiel, Marcel Plouffe, George Whyte and Barry Lang shared the Powell River scoring Saturday as the Regals led all the way. Regals led 1-0 at the end of the first, 2-0 after 40 minutes and added three in the finale.

PIN-SPOTTER'S VIEW OF ZONE KINGS

ship trophies, won first zone crown with 24-game total of 4,489, beating Murrant by 74 pins. Murrant took title in 1958. (Photo by Jorgen Svendsen.)

Jim Finally Ends Quest; Wins Zone Tenpin Title

There's a first time for everything and Sunday marked a first in the life of Victoria bowler Jim Mills. The veteran bowler, long a threat to top city regiers, won the Victoria zone tenpin championships for the first time in his career.

The race for first place in the annual tourney was a close one as Mills swapped places with runner-up Len Murrant during two weekends of play.

Mills led by 25 pins at the halfway mark but Murrant took over after Saturday's six games at Gibson's and was leading by 47 pins with 3-305 when the tourney shifted to Aurora Sunday.

Murrant was only able to muster 1,059 in the last six games to 1,171 for the winner and Mills finished with 4,489, 74 pins better than his rival, who had previously won the title in 1958.

In third place, 99 pins back with 4,316, was Jack Hobby, who came out of nowhere on the final day after being well off the pace in the earlier stages.

Close behind was Len Parsons with 4,312 and Wilbur Webb with 4,305.

RECORD HOLDER
Webb, who finished second last year, holds the all-time city record for the tourney of 4,595.

Following Webb were: Dave Barr, 3,276; Roy Begg, defending champion, 4,271; Wally Noonan, 4,269, and Don Shaw, 4,255.

Barr and Noonan finished one and two in division "B" competition for those with handicaps of 165 or under.

TO B.C. PLAYOFFS
Besides deciding the zone champions, the tourney also qualified Mills and Murrant as Victoria representatives in the B.C. championships next weekend.

The pair will meet Up-Island and Mainland champions in Vancouver Saturday and Sunday in a 15-game roll-off to select a team to meet Alberta champions for the western Canadian finals, scheduled for New Westminster late in April.

The winners of that tournament will journey to Montreal for the Canadian finals.

Tudor Way Shows Way
NEW YORK (CP) — A big dappled grey from Argentina, Tudor Way, took the lead midway in the far turn Saturday and went on to win the $114,000 Gulfstream Park Handicap by two lengths.

Tudor Way, carrying top weight of 124 pounds and ridden by Bill Hartack, was the 1-to-5 favorite.

He ran the mile and a quarter in 2:01.6 in beating long-shot Derrick, second, and Don Poggio, third. Tudor Way returned $2.70, $2.40, $2.30; Derrick $6.40 and $3.40 and Don Poggio $2.90.

Evcoes Clinch Soccer Crown

Evcoes sewed up a second straight Victoria and District Football League championship Sunday with a 2-1 victory over Heaneys.

The veteran club with the water-tight defence is now out of reach of second-place Kickers and third-place Saanich Thistles with a comfortable two games in hand to boot.

Bob Irlinson and Bill Abbott were the marksmen for the champions in a close game where both clubs concentrated on tight, positional soccer rather than a wide-open game.

In other games Sunday, Kickers tied up the runner-up spot with a 3-0 whitewash of Canadian Scottish at Central Park.

Royals Extend Unbeaten Skein
VANCOUVER (CP) — The Canadian champion Westminster Royals scored a goal on the last play of the game Sunday to snatch a 1-1 tie with Vancouver City and extend their unbeaten streak to 16 straight games this season.

Referee Frank Lee had his whistle in his mouth to blow for time when centre forward Tony Crisp headed home his goal for the Royals.

Until then the shorthanded City side had looked like pulling the biggest upset of the soccer season.

Future Is Bright For Optimist Club

No one can deny now that the future looks bright for Victoria Optimists of the Lower Island Junior and Juvenile Soccer Association.

By the same token, the prospects are favorable for Optimist goalkeeper forward Larry Johnston.

The talented booter, who racked up a string of shutouts in the nets during the high school soccer season with Mount View High School, tallied his team's only goal Sunday as a forward in a 1-0 victory over Heaneys in the Division I championship final.

BACK NEXT YEAR
The victory and title was particularly welcome to the squad since Division I is the only group in the league in which teams can play two years as a unit.

Most of the present players will be back next year and a repeat win is more than likely. In the only other game Sunday, West Vancouver Blue Devils downed Victoria's Evening Optimists 1-0 in a Division IV exhibition contest.

In Saturday's games Norm Pite and Lloyd Murphy scored to give Oak Bay Optimists a 2-1 victory over MacNuts and Montreal Canadiens were extended to the last minute in the 1960-61 season before locking up a fourth consecutive National Hockey League championship.

But in the end, the season's performance was almost identical to that of 1959-60 when the title was grabbed in a breeze.

When the Canadiens wrapped up their 13th title in 44 years with a 2-0 victory at Detroit Sunday night, it gave them 41 victories, 19 defeats, 10 ties and 92 points for their year's work.

In 1959-60, they had 40 wins, 18 losses, 12 ties and 92 points. The Canadiens might have clinched first place Saturday except for spectacular goal-tending by Glenn Hall of Chicago Black Hawks. He stopped the Canadiens cold at Montreal, making 39 stops in Hawks' 4-1 victory.

Toronto Maple Leafs, the team that gave Canadiens the most trouble, were second—only two points behind—when the 70-game schedule ended

Johnny Bower Wins Vezina Trophy

Toronto goalie Johnny Bower won the Vezina Trophy and Montreal's Bernie Gorman won the Calder Trophy for best rookie.

The Vezina goes to the goalie who plays the most games for the team that allows the fewest goals.

Bower missed 12 of Toronto's last 14 games because of injuries but great work by his substitutes, Cesare Maniago and Gerry McNamara, helped him edge Hall 176 goals to 180.

Geoffrion was held pointless in his two weekend games but finished five points ahead of teammate Jean Beliveau. The bull-headed Boomer had 95 points on a record-equaling 50 goals and 45 assists.

He gets the Art Ross Trophy for winning the scoring title.

Plante Stars Before Record Crowd

Goalie Jacques Plante was the big gun in Canadiens' win at Detroit. The masked goalie stopped every Red Wing assault with an acrobatic display of goal-tending to record his second shutout of the year.

Beliveau, with his 32nd, and Claude Provost got the Montreal goals before a record Detroit crowd of 15,983.

Saturday, Don Marshall provided the Canadiens with an early 1-0 lead but Murray Balfour and Reg Fleming scored in the second to put Chicago ahead 2-1. Al Arbour and Ron Murphy then scored in the third.

Last-Ditch Jump Shot Gives D-Cs B.C. Title

ALBERNI (CP)—Vancouver Dietrich-Collins Saturday night defeated Alberni Athletics 62-60 to win the best-of-seven British Columbia senior "A" men's basketball title, 4-2.

The Vancouver team now meets either Lethbridge or Winnipeg Blue Bombers in the Western Canada best-of-five playoffs in Vancouver.

A 15-foot jump shot from the corner by veteran Dietrich-Collins forward Ed Malecki, with less than 10 seconds to go, saved the day for the Vancouver team. Alberni immediately called time out but were unable to get a shot at the basket in the final seconds.

It was a long, hard fight back from a first-quarter deficit of 14 points for the visiting team.

The Athletics jumped onto an early lead and appeared as if they would force a seventh game. But the outside shooting of Mel Brown and Eddie Wild slowly closed the gap between the clubs.

After the first quarter it was 19-14 for Alberni, at halftime it was 34-26 for the Athletics.

Vets Fail to Hold Lead; Lose Final to Kelowna

KELOWNA, B.C. (CP) — Kelowna Teddy Bears, defending Canadian senior "B" women's basketball champions, Saturday night became the first team in history to capture the British Columbia senior "B" crown four times in a row.

The Teddy Bears defeated Victoria Naval Vets 39-31 in a game that was one of the roughest-toughest played here in many years.

Teddie had to fight from behind an 18-15 deficit at half time to turn back the Vancouver Island squad, outscoring the Vets 24-13 in the final session.

They came up with what coach Bob Hall termed a secret play to defeat the Victoria team, which was obviously tired after downing Trail 46-24 in an afternoon game.

The game had to be halted several times when Victoria coach Wally Yeamans protested the scorekeeping and verbally attacked the newspaper photographers for taking photographs. He said flashes were blinding his players.

Victoria's Louise Mason was top scorer with 17 points. Marg Pearson added nine for Victoria.

Kelowna's big scorers were Irene Mackay with 10, Anita Stewart with nine and Lois Haley with eight.

More than half Victoria's points came from the free throw line. Vets dropped in 19 of 32 tries while the Teddie scored five of 10 chances. Kelowna coach Bob Hall said

HITLER'S LOVE AFFAIR

bers, when Hitler left his Munich apartment to go to Hamburg on September 17, 1931. The young girl was heard to cry to him from the window as her uncle was getting into his car. "Then you won't let me go to Vienna?" and he was heard to respond, "No!"

The next morning Geli Raubal was found shot dead in her room. The state's attorney, after a thorough investigation, found that it was suicide. The coroner reported that a bullet had gone through her chest below the left shoulder and penetrated the heart; it seemed beyond doubt that the shot was self-inflicted. Yet for years afterward in

HITLER ... embarrassing to party

Munich there was murky gossip that Geli Raubal had been murdered—by Hitler in a rage, by Himmler to eliminate a situation that had become embarrassing to the party. But no credible evidence ever turned up to substantiate such rumors.

Grief-Stricken

Hitler himself was struck down by grief. Gregor Strasser later recounted that he had had to remain for the following two days and nights at Hitler's side to prevent him from taking his own life. A week after Geli's burial in Vienna, Hitler obtained special permission from the Austrian government to go there; he spent an evening weeping at the grave. For months he was inconsolable.

Three weeks after the death of Geli, Hitler had his first interview with President Hindenburg. It was his first bid for the big stakes, for the chancellorship of the Reich.

His distraction on this momentous occasion—some of his friends said he did not seem to be in full possession of his faculties during the conversation, which went badly for the Nazi leader—was put down by those who knew him as due to the shock of the loss of his beloved niece.

The Only Woman

From this personal blow stemmed, I believe, an act of renunciation, his decision to abstain from meat; at least, some of his closest henchmen seemed to think so.

To them he declared forever afterward that Geli Raubal was the only woman he ever loved, and he always spoke of her with the deepest reverence—and often in tears.

Servants said that her room in the villa at Obersalzberg, even after it was rebuilt and enlarged in the days of Hitler's chancellorship, remained as she had left it. In his own room there, and in the Chancellery in Berlin, portraits of the young woman always hung and when the anniversaries of her birth and death came around each year flowers were placed around them.

For a brutal, cynical man who always seemed to be incapable of love of any other human being, this passion of Hitler's for the youthful Geli Raubal stands out as one of the mysteries of his strange life. As with all mysteries, it cannot be rationally explained, merely recounted. Thereafter, it is almost certain, Adolf Hitler never seriously contemplated marriage until the day before he took his own life 14 years later.

Took a Mistress

He never again fell seriously in love, although, a year later, he took a mistress—Eva Braun—and kept her for the remaining years of his life.

Where did Hitler get the money during those politically lean years to court Geli Raubal, pay rent for a mountain villa at Obersalzberg and for an apartment in Munich, and drive about in a flashy, chauffeured automobile that cost $5,000?

The Nazi leader's early income-tax files, which are among the captured documents, shed some light on this question. But Hitler, like many other people, did not always tell the whole truth in his income tax returns.

In the second half of the twenties, Hitler's reported gross income corresponded pretty accurately to his royalties from "Mein Kampf"—$6,000 in 1925, $4,000 in 1926, $3,000 each in 1927 and 1928, and $4,000 in 1929. Since publishers' royalty payments were subject to inspection by the tax office, Hitler could not safely report an income less than his royalties. His other income was never reported.

Although he declined to accept a salary as head of the Nazi party, he did demand a high fee for the many articles he wrote for the impoverished Nazi press.

How Much Stuck?

Probably, Hitler's largest source of personal income at this time was money handed over to him by the big industrialists. They were attracted by Nazi opposition to the free trade unions and to the Marxist parties. How much of this money stuck to his fingers will never be known. But his scale of living in the late twenties indicates that it was substantial. There was some grumbling in the party over "the high cost of Hitler."

Hitler himself grumbled continually at the tax collector for questioning his deductions, which usually amounted to more than half of his gross income. He justified them as the legitimate expenses of "a writer." And, always, he insisted he was poor.

In 1930, his book royalties tripled to $12,000, and contributions from businessmen soared. Any personal financial worries Hitler might have had suddenly ceased. He could now devote all his attention to politics.

Next—Hitler decides to seek the presidency of Germany. (Adapted from "The Rise and Fall of the Third Reich," published by Simon and Schuster, and copyrighted by William L. Shirer, 1960. Distributed by The Register and Tribune Syndicate.)

Julianne and Jerry Fotheringham will be featured performers that date, at 2:15 p.m. and 8:15 p.m., in a Memorial Arena show sponsored by the Victoria Figure Skating Club.

They are fortunate because if they hadn't taken a tumble at U.S. national figure skating championships at Colorado Springs, they would have been aboard a plane that crashed in Belgium, killing 18.

CHICAGO (AP)—Russia has been invited to send a tennis team into its first United States' competition this summer, starting with the U.S. clay courts championships here July 17-23.

Threats to Girl Friend Forced Clerk Into Spying

LONDON (AP)—A Royal Navy clerk told a jury today he photographed secret plans of the nuclear submarine Dreadnought after Communist hoodlums beat him and threatened his mistress.

Henry F. Houghton, 55, one of five defendants charged with leaking secrets to the Russians, claimed he deliberately took the photographs out of focus so they would be useless to his tormentors.

Houghton testified his troubles started in February, 1958, when a contact man he knew only as "Nikki" demanded details of submarine warfare research from the Portland base where Houghton worked.

When he failed to show up for a meeting, Houghton said, two men came to his house and beat him savagely. They threatened next time to get his mistress and co-defendant Ethel Elizabeth Gee, 48, also an employee at the Portland base.

FORCE THREATENED

Houghton said he stalled off the ring from time to time by giving them pamphlets and papers they could have obtained in ordinary publications. But when they threatened Miss Gee, he said, "I regarded that as most serious."

"I could stand it myself," he testified, "but I hated anything to happen to Miss Gee."

Houghton said "Nikki" told him to expect such booby traps as parcels that would explode if he failed to produce information.

The defendant insisted he never had complied. "I said I couldn't get it," that "it (the information) was not there."

Actually, I did not attempt to," Houghton said.

MET SEVERAL TIMES

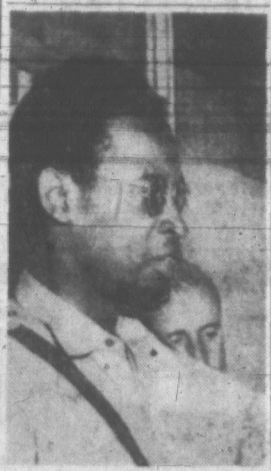

After several meetings, Nikki gave him £5 ($14) "for expenses," Houghton said.

"He told me the information I had been supplying was worthless and asked me to try and do a bit better," he said. "I was not trying. I had no intention of trying."

Houghton said he continued to answer Nikki's demands to meet him at various pubs out of fear that violence might come to Miss Gee. He said he kept clear of the police for the same reason: "They (the ring) could have sent Miss Gee a booby trap."

In 1895, Dr. Rudolph Diesel of Germany patented the internal combustion engine operating with pulverized fuel and air compression.

CENTURY 21 PLANNING NEEDED

'Let's Get Together'—Hawkins

A co-ordinated effort is needed to attract tourists to Vancouver Island during Seattle's Century 21 exposition next year, the Associated Chambers of Commerce of Vancouver Island was told Saturday.

William Hawkins, commissioner of the Victoria and Island Publicity Bureau, speaking in a panel discussion, said interested organizations are "running in a variety of directions at the same time."

BOOTH RENTED

As far as Victoria's participation in the fair, Mr. Hawkins said, the city has progressed to the point of renting a booth on the grounds. Cost will be more than $5,000, he said, and about three quarters of a million pieces of literature will be needed for distribution from it.

"We look on Century 21 as a golden opportunity and a real challenge," said Air Titelec, vice-president of the local Auto Courts and Resorts Association.

He said an international committee, set up between motel and auto court operators in B.C. and Washington, is trying to get visitors to Washington to extend their trip north of the border.

CITY NEWS BRIEFS

Monthly meeting of the showed that during the last year Corps members made be held in the Community more than 3,000 visits to elder Hall Wednesday starting at citizens of Victoria.

Ladies of Salvation Army Harbor Light Corps are forming a women's group to work with the corps to assist alcoholics.

First meeting will be held at the Harbor Light Corps headquarters, 550 Yates St. Thursday at 2 p.m.

Anybody wishing to help but unable to attend the meeting should contact Mrs. Envy Welch, EV 4-0045.

If you're planning on giving a fluffy little baby chick to a tiny tot for Easter, make it a toy one, not a real one. This appeal was issued today by officials of the Society for Prevention of Cruelty to Animals.

Live baby chicks are bound to suffer, likely die, if they are handled with the rough affection which can be expected from children.

For a live pet gift, the SPCA suggests, choose a dog or cat ready for adoption at the small animal shelter, on Wilson off Tye Road.

Mrs. M. E. Cowdery was elected president of Silver Threads Volunteers Corps at the group's annual meeting recently.

Mrs. H. Gill will be first vice-president for the coming year and Miss G. L. Kensington second vice-president. Other officers elected were:

Miss Bessie Patterson, secretary-treasurer; Miss M. Gay, in charge of birthday cards; and Mrs. H. Thompson, publicity convener.

Reports during the meeting

Panel discussion on the Chant Report will be featured at the next meeting of Monterey School PTA in the school auditorium Tuesday at 8 p.m.

Panel members will include H. C. O'Donnell, moderator, B.C. Gillie, Mrs. Irene Byers, J. Crowther and Mrs. J. S. Petterson.

Victoria branch, Canadian Restaurant Association, has sent 80 dozen local daffodils to Toronto for the opening of the association's annual convention today.

With the flowers went a message: "A bit of sunshine from Canada's Treasure Island."

About 12,000 operators are expected to attend the convention scheduled to be opened by Premier Leslie Frost, of Ontario. Representing Victoria will be W. Norris, second vice-president of the local branch, and Mrs. Norris.

Gurdial Singh, 531 West Burnside, was fined $50 when he pleaded guilty in Saanich police court Thursday to drinking beer in public.

Police said he drank from a beer bottle in his car and when the car was checked, two open bottles were found at his feet.

Neighbors told police they saw a man apparently prowling mailboxes along Forbes Street Saturday—latest sign of unemployment in Victoria.

Police said one household, at 2621 Forbes, reported an $18 family allowance cheque missing.

CARPET AND UPHOLSTERY CLEANING TIME IS NOW

HOW CLEAN IS CLEAN IN A WOMAN'S WORLD?

Women generally agree that their prized rugs should be kept clean, according to a recent survey by the National Institute of Rug Cleaning, but they differ widely on the best way to go about it, and about how clean is clean.

The survey examined the attitudes of a large number of women in varying income groups and areas. It found that almost all valued their rugs above most other household possessions, both because they are an expensive item and because the owners felt the rug is the foundation of hominess and warmth in a house.

All were emphatic that whatever care kept a rug new-looking the longest was the best kind of care.

The survey found that aside from the quality of the cleaning done by professionals, they attached great importance to the service provided—prompt return of the rugs, care in handling other furnishings, inquiries about their satisfaction with the work, neatness and manners of the cleaning employees.

Many of the do-it-yourself group failed to realize—or under-rated—the importance of getting dirt out of the deep nap and backing of the rugs.

Among those who regularly had professional cleaning done, this deep dirt was viewed with much more concern.

CARDINAL WYSZYNSKI
... 'you will bow'WLADYSLAW GOMULKA
... accuses Vatican

CHURCH WON'T BOW

Cardinal Defies
Red 'Caesars'

WARSAW (AP) — Hurling defiance at Poland's Communist regime, Stefan Cardinal Wyszynski pledged Sunday that the Roman Catholic Church will not bend to the Red "Caesars" in the mounting church-state struggle.

"I tell you Caesars that you will bow to your God and you will serve only Him and no one else," the Polish primate declared. "Satan is mighty but man will not bow his head before him."

The cardinal's voice boomed through the high-vaulted Church of the Visitation as he declared that state-sponsored youth groups characterized by "atheization, laicization, indifference, rationalism, etc.," show that the Communist rulers are persecuting the church.

"It is so easily said that there is no struggle against religion," Cardinal Wyszynski said. "And what is this? What can one call this?"

PERSECUTION DENIED

Wladyslaw Gomulka, Poland's Communist party chief, had said on Saturday that the Vatican is trying to provoke "persecution and martyrdom" in Poland and that it is sacrificing the Polish hierarchy in its fight against communism. Gomulka denied any persecution of the church.

The cardinal said that instead of anti-Communist directives, the Vatican's constant instruction has been that "Poland acts on its own."

A Vatican radio broadcast Sunday joined in the cardinal's charge of persecution. It said Gomulka has made "a grave attack against the Catholic Church in Poland" while directing his words against the Vatican. The broadcast accused Gomulka of standard Communist tactics in seeking to divide the church in Poland from the papacy.

Cardinal Wyszynski, now 60, became primate in 1948. He was imprisoned shortly after becoming a cardinal in 1953, during the Stalinist era. He was released from detention three years later, during the upheaval that brought Gomulka to power to ease the Stalinist policies.

ORGANS MAY BE TAKEN FROM ACCIDENT VICTIMS

Freezing Aids Medical Transplants

By FRANK CAREY
ST. PETERSBURG (AP) — A scientist said today a technique has been developed that might open the way toward the goal of transplanting entire organs from one person to another.

Dr. Claude R. Hitchcock of Minneapolis General Hospital said he and fellow researchers have successfully removed kidneys or lungs from baboons and dogs, kept them "alive" outside the body for periods up to 24 hours, then replanted them in the same animals and found that normal function quickly resulted.

He told a seminar of science writers sponsored by the American Cancer Society that the technique involved cooling the organs quickly to a freezing state and freezing them entirely of blood.

In a separate interview, Dr. Hitchcock said that in "the far future," with the aid of his and allied techniques, it might be possible to take an organ, such as the liver from the body of a person killed in an accident, alter its cellular characteristics, store it in a refrigerator, and then transplant it into the body of a person whose own organ was diseased.

"The Russians," he said, "have already had success with stored blood taken from cadavers."

"WILD THEORY"

Scientists are hoping to test a "wild" but hopeful theory that cancer patients might be treated by using the bodies of normal people as medicine-making middlemen, a Virginia doctor who described the concept said Sunday.

In effect, it would mean farming-out cancerous tissue to healthy people—though with no danger to them, said Dr. David M. Hume. The idea would be to take bits of a patient's cancer, implant them in a normal person and thus produce protective antibodies against the cancer. These antibodies would then be implanted in the cancer patient.

CURE RATE HIGH

DALLAS Tex. (AP) — A Philadelphia radiologist said Sunday that 98 per cent of localized cancer cases are now cured by radiation equipment.

The physician, Dr. Philip J. Hodes, said the cure is particularly high in cancer of the breast and uterine cervix with early diagnosis.

Thinning Ranks
Meet Saturday

Captain D. B. F. Bullen, one of the unit's original officers, will preside over the 67th Battalion Western Scots annual reunion at the Dominion Hotel banquet hall Saturday.

Although the ranks of former members is fast thinning—16 died during the past 12 months—between 50 and 60 are expected.

Two from California have already notified the secretary they will be present, one from Edmonton and several from the B.C. interior.

The occasion marks the 46th anniversary of the Victoria-recruited and trained battalion's embarkation for overseas, where it served in France as the 4th Canadian Division Pioneers.

Ceylon Sends Troops

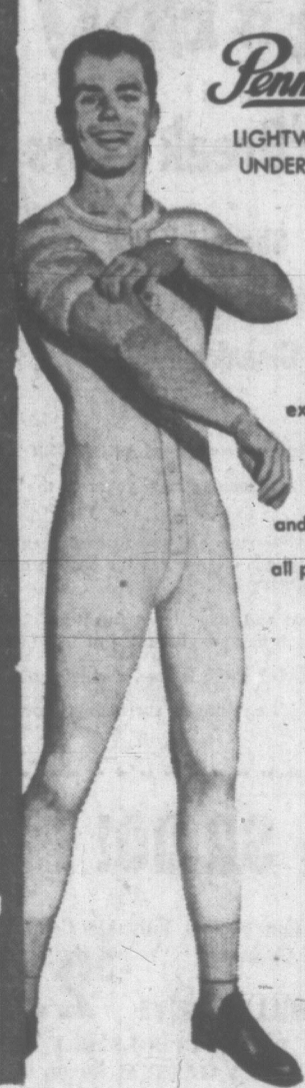

UNITED NATIONS (AP) — Diplomatic sources said Sunday Ceylon has agreed to send between 800 and 1,000 troops to the United Nations force in the Congo. This would increase the strength of the depleted force to above 20,000 and put it on the way toward the 25,000-man goal set by UN Secretary-General Dam Hammaraskjold.

SOLUTION WEDNESDAY

IT HAPPENED LAST NIGHT

By EARL WILSON

TEL AVIV—Ten years ago when I came to Israel the first time, a woman told me she'd waited on queue two hours to get four tomatoes.

Today, in Dizengoff Square, which seems to have as many sidewalk cafes as Paris, you can find every food imaginable.

"If you want a kosher pickle," a New York friend had warned me, when I was starting on this trip, "take one with you."

And Max Asnas of the Stage Delicatessen was eager to pack a big box of pastrami.

PAIN OF RHEUMATISM ARTHRITIS SCIATICA LUMBAGO GOUT

relieved with DEIGHTON'S HERB MEDICINE, a formula developed by E. Deighton, an herbalist of 50 years experience. This medicine consists of a number of ingredients, just like a doctor's prescription, all of which should help to relieve the pain associated with these ailments. Be helped "nature's way"—start using DEIGHTON'S HERB MEDICINE today. Available at McCall Davey Drug, Shelbourne Drug, Fairfield Pharmacy, Williams-Mohr Pharmacy and all drug stores.

But progress has come to Israel, and now it does have delicatessen. We even had heretofore for breakfast; yes, even lox and kosher pickles are available to tourists — as poet Robert Frost and author Harry Golden can tell you from personal experience. You can't keep Israel down.

AND POPCORN While the B. W. and I were promenading here among the nightclubs along the warm Mediterranean, I even found my favorite middle-western delicacy: popcorn.

Sitting around the Cafe Noga, an open-air Lindy's, the comedians quote a line used back home by Leo Fuld at the Cafe Sabra:

"The food's become so good in Israel, we should send food packages to America."

It's actually inspiring to visit here after 10 years and observe the almost miraculous progress.

In 1951, we felt such pity for these brave people living on austerity diets. We commented about the beautiful children.

MODERN LIFE Some have grown up now into the prettiest, shapeliest girls in the world, speaking four or five languages, leading a good, modern life, unable to remember "the rationing time."

Perhaps one little boy we saw back in those hard, hard times is now the famous Jitzchak, "the Israeli Elvis Presley," or, as the American comedians say when they come here, "the Israeli Elvis Presley."

Both George Jessel and Leo Fuld have used a line about a contest — first prize being a week in Israel, second prize being two weeks in Israel.

But that's long, long out of date now. The fussiest visitors here long to stay and stay — now that they even have delicatessen.

THE MIDNIGHT EARL IN NEW YORK ...

Martha Raye decided not to tour with the second road company of "Gypsy." (Ethel Merman'll head the first) ... Actor Robert Morse weds Carol D'Andrea next month ... Mitzi Gaynor's preparing a cafe act ... Alfred Drake will shave off his beard for his role in the musical, "Kean" ... Tina Louise is studying ballet between yoga lessons.

Singer Joan Sutherland skipped a rehearsal of the Bell Telephone T-Ver — she was having tea with the Duke and Duchess of Windsor ... "The Wall," which got favorable reviews on B'way, lost $170,000 ... Sally Ann Howes had to learn to smoke for her TV role in "The Old Foolishness" ... Lionel Hampton's jazz concert

HE GIVES AWAY GRAND PRIZES

Is there something you want to know? Do you want to win a set of valuable books or other instructive prizes? Then ask Andy.

Andy will answer questions submitted by child readers and those who submit the questions he selects to answer will receive worthwhile prizes.

The youngster who asks the first question answered each day receives a 20-volume set of the World Book Encyclopedia, and of the second question a Hammond Atlas or Globe.

Address your questions to "Ask Andy," Victoria Daily Times.

Andy sends a complete, 20-volume set of the World Book Encyclopedia to Gary Bower, age 12, of Williamsport, Penna., for his question:

Why is fire hot?

We have all played the old guessing game called Animal, Mineral or Vegetable. You can put almost anything you choose in one of these three classes. But in which class would you put fire? We can see it, hear it, feel it and it seems to be a thing. But it is not an animal, not a mineral and certainly not a vegetable. Actually, we could call it an event. It belongs in the world of chemistry where it is called a chemical change.

The scientists tell us that everything around us is made of chemicals, even our own bodies. And chemicals are changeable. Two gases can be made to combine and become liquid water. This is a chemical change in which something new is built. We turn some of the chemicals in our food into energy. This is a chemical change in which something is broken down.

To make a cake, we mix ingredients and bake them. The mixture will not change into a cake without the heat of the oven. Heat is a form of energy and energy plays a part in every chemical change. A chemical change that builds something new usually uses up energy. A chemical change that breaks something apart usually gives off energy and very often this energy is in the form of heat.

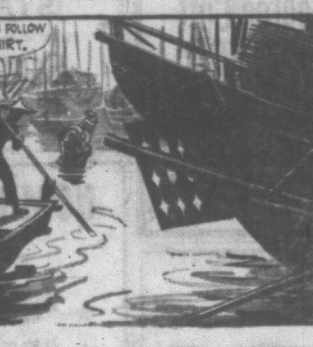

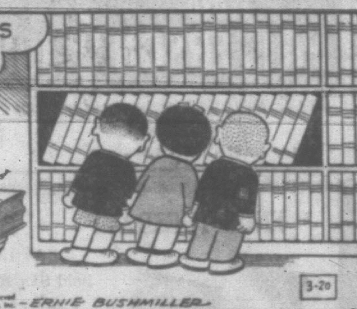

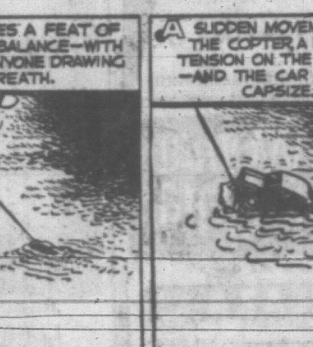

Somewhere the green leaves are busy making plant sugar from air and water. In this chemical change, they use the energy from sunlight. Some of the plant sugar is changed into wood and some of this wood finds its way to the fireplace. As it burns, certain chemicals in the wood are broken down.

Remember, the green leaves used water and gases from the air to make the chemicals which later became wood. When the wood burns, it breaks down and becomes these very same chemicals again. But remember, the leaves also used the energy from sunlight. They used an oven to bake their chemical ingredients.

When the chemicals break apart in the fire, this energy is set free. It becomes heat. In the hearth, a chemical change is taking place. The complex chemicals in the wood are breaking apart into more simple chemicals. In the heat which is set free, some of the gases blaze up in dancing flames.

The wood for the fireplace is fuel. Coal and gas are also fuels and so is the gasoline we put into a car. These fuels were made long ago but they too were made by green leaves from air, water and sunshine. Coal is the buried remains of ancient forests. Kitchen gas and gasoline are formed from the bodies of little sea dwellers who fed on scraps of ancient seaweeds. These fuels were put together by chemical changes and the energy used was stored within them through the ages. When they burn, they break apart and this chemical change releases their energy as heat.

'CUCKOLDS' IN CITY APRIL 19

A one-night performance of the Dominion Drama Festival British Columbia Region winning play, "The Three Cuckolds," presented by Cowichan Lake Players, has been arranged to take place in Victoria, Wednesday, April 19, at Oak Bay Junior High School.

"The Three Cuckolds," a high comedy farce of the commedia dell'arte school, won top laurels at the festival held in Vancouver's International Cinema, recently. Among its three rivals was the formidable "Crime and Punishment," produced by Vancouver Little Theatre and directed by Ian Thorne.

Sponsoring the local performance is the Soroptimist Club of Greater Victoria.

Ninety per cent of the net proceeds are to go to the Cowichan Players to assist them in travelling to compete in the final festival in eastern Canada. The other 10 per cent will be devoted to Soroptimist charities, principal of which is the Cerebral Palsy Clinic.

this is COMPOSE

this Spring the BIG FASHION NEWS at the Bay is COMPOSE, which means three opposing colors deliberately used together. This color combination is a natural for sportswear, different for ready-to-wear, and a challenge for accessories. It is a deliberate and entirely new concept of COLOR with COLOR!

This new idea is sweeping the continent, but as in all things new, it requires direction to achieve the desired effect—to make you look Exciting, Daring, Imaginative...

Here are rules to follow to obtain the right accessory contrast colors in the following triple plays.

1. Bright or light costume plus one sharp contrast (usually the hat) all the other accessories neutral - pale or dark.

Examples:

- Orange suit - black hat - beige shoes and bag - ivory gloves.
- Pink suit - turquoise hat - beige shoes and bag - ivory gloves.
- Turquoise suit - green blouse and hat - brown shoes and bag - ivory gloves

2. Bright or light costume plus neutral or dark contrast in accessories.

Examples:

- Gold suit - all shiny black accessories.
- Green coat - white hat and gloves - beige shoes and bag.

3. Darker neutral costume one lighter, bright accent (hat and gloves) - other accessories neutral or dark.

Examples:

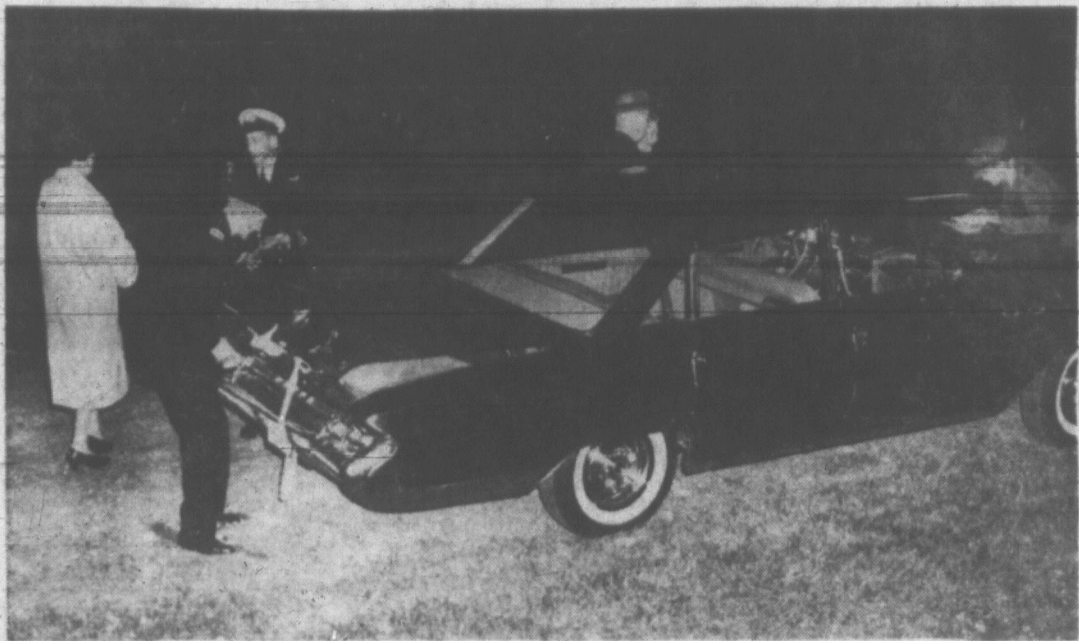

- Beige suit - orange hat - beige gloves - black or tan shoes and bag.
- Grey suit - yellow hat - chamois gloves - black shoes and grey bag.

It's DRAMATIC and FLATTERING and best of all, the Bay Fashion Departments have just the right items to make choosing your COMPOSE easy and fun...

See them now in the fashion departments on the main and second floors!

GOVERNOR, WIFE ESCAPE INJURIES IN COLLISION

New limousine of Lieutenant-Governor George Pearkes was involved in three-car crash that injured one person and caused $500-$600 damage on Patricia Bay Highway just before midnight Saturday. The governor and Mrs. Pearkes returning from Salt Spring Island, escaped injury when their car, driven by Ross Hartnell, pulled up behind one driven by Nona D. Payne, Madronna Drive, when it stalled on a hill north of Keating Cross Road. Third car, driven by Francis L. Crofton, 2530 Windsor, was in collision with the lieutenant-governor's car, causing it to hit the first auto, sending Mrs. Crofton into the windshield. She was treated for face cuts. PUBLISHER'S NOTEBOOK

By Stuart Keate

Weekend faces in the crowd:

HAROLD OCKENDEN. A retired shipwright-lieutenant in the RCN, Harold has one of the most fascinating hobbies in town: recreating the ship's badges and crests of the Canadian navy. Already he's worked his way through about 80, figures he has another 40 or so to go, and can tell you the story behind each badge. His ambition: to see produced, in color, a book which would preserve these heraldic stories for posterity.

BILL PINFOLD. Brown as an alligator wallet, Bill celebrated his return from Honolulu by scoring an ace on the 121-yard eighth hole at Oak Bay. Asked how he did it, the Great Man shrugged modestly and said: "I just made a perfect shot, that's all."

MARIE MILBURN. A journalist turned musician (or is it the other way around?), Marie drew plaudits from an audience of admiring parents at Oak Bay High Saturday night as she led Victoria's Junior Symphony in an impressive program, scarcely batted an eye when a cymbal broke loose at the end of Haydn's "Military" symphony, adding a musical exclamation point which wasn't in the score.

KEN DAVIS. Chatting about Denise Wilde's award as "best supporting actress" in the school's drama festival, Ken recalled his one-and-only seek-and-buskin appearance here 30 years ago, in a drama called (hold on to your hats): "The Six Who Passed While the Lentils Boil."

BILL ENGLISH. The naval research scientist, getting in a bit of Beethoven (Sunday) while the getting's good, in a few days he's off for the North Arctic, where he'll roam the wastes in an ice tractor, measuring underwater sound-waves.

HELEN ORT. When she went on the stage of the Royal Sunday afternoon to present Elizabeth Benson Guy with a bouquet, the star wasn't there. So what do you do, with 1,500 people out front, flowers in your arm, and nobody to hand them to? Mistress Helen waited until Hans Gruber retrieved the soprano, offered a fetching curtsy and—for good measure—tossed in one for concert master Clifford Evans. So, with 200 artists on the stage, Helen stole the show.

ED SULLIVAN. Slightly Paar-boiled after the week's most fatuous debate, Ed came out swinging Sunday night with a musical Lisa of Lerner and Lowe. But after he reached "Camelot" it was more of a low than a learner.

TOPICS OF THE DAY

ASK THE TIMES

Q. How many wives has Monte Roberts as he often refers to "My Favorite Wife" in this column? R.S.

A. The many wives of Monte Roberts (according to Roberts) include: an intimate friend, a judicious advisor, an expert on hockey, football and assorted sports, a mother, grandmother, source of ideas for his column, housekeeper, cooker of superlative stews, highly-respected business world figure, talented conversationalist and as all-round a good fellow as your gal Sal. If this doesn't get him breakfast in bed next Sunday, nothing will.

Q. What height do the highest cacti reach? A.I.

A. Up to 70 feet. This is the Saguaro cactus of Arizona, California and Mexico.

Winter Delivers Windy Farewell

Winter took one wild, windy swing at Victoria before giving way to spring sharp at 12.32 p.m. today, but it left the city practically unmarked.

Wind picked up speed overnight, and by 3.30 a.m. was blowing at a steady 40 miles per hour. Peak speed was 68 miles per hour, reached at 4.45 a.m.

Damage was slight and in sharp contrast to the storm of a week ago when B.C. Electric and B.C. Telephone crews worked all day Sunday and most of Monday repairing damaged lines.

B.C. Electric today reported "just a few individual services out," while a B.C. Telephone spokesman said weekend trouble was "just a little more than normal for a Sunday."

Some fears were held for the commercial daffodil crop, now being picked for the eastern market, but Gordon Head producer, G. A. Vantreight, said his fields were harmed only slightly.

"Some of the blooms were bruised," he said, "but we are picking buds, and damage to them was negligible." Weatherman William Mackie said this first day of spring will end with only a few clouds tonight and light winds. Another weather system on its way here will give southeasterly winds up to 20 miles per hour Tuesday afternoon, with showers by Tuesday evening.

Temperatures tonight and Tuesday will range between 38 and 55 degrees.

Two teen-aged boys were trapped for more than three hours Saturday evening in a sewer manhole in South Fairfield.

Jack Fleming, 15, of 163 Olive, and Bryan Logan, 15, of 35 Moss, lifted the lid on a 30-foot manhole at Moss and Clover, climbed in and replaced the heavy lid over the hole so no one would follow them, accidentally or otherwise.

This was shortly after 5 p.m. when it was still daylight.

A bus passed over the hole just after they got the lid in place. The weight of the bus jammed the lid and the lads became prisoners.

They called, pushed on the heavy grille and sent out "smoke signals" from cigarettes. No one heard them. They crouched at the top of the hole, waters rushing many feet below toward Clover Point outfall.

It grew dark and looked as though the pair were in for a night of it.

Finally a neighborhood boy noticed smoke coming from the hole, went over and saw the flicker of a flashlight the two youths carried.

He flagged down a car and the driver, Ed White, 72 Dallas, jumped to the rescue.

He tugged at the lid. It held fast.

He went home, got a jack and piece of lumber, went back to the manhole and applied pressure.

Meanwhile, Bryan's mother could see from her window someone trying to pry a manhole cover off and wondered why.

POLICE CALLED

Someone else called police, who arrived moments after 8 p.m. as White got the boys free.

Their only complaint: the 50 cents they dropped down the hole—which they originally went in to recover—was still at the bottom.

NUCLEAR COST DECREASING

Time Running Out For Hydro Power

The development of nuclear power has left only a relatively limited time for development of the remaining hydro-electric power resources of Canada, it was stated here today by David Cass-Beggs, Regina, president of the Canadian Electrical Association. He made the observation at a press conference held in conjunction with the association's western zone conference which opened today in the Empress Hotel.

Mr. Cass-Beggs, general manager of the Saskatchewan Power Corp., said cost of nuclear power is coming down to the point where it is more nearly competitive with costly fuels, coal in Ontario, for example. It is possible within 20 or 30 years it will compete with hydro power, he said.

NEW URGENCY

This has placed a new urgency on the development of major Canadian hydro power sources—the Peace and Columbia in B.C., the Saskatchewan

DRIVE PLANNED BY CHAMBERS

Park Status Asked for Plateau

A drive to have Vancouver Island's Forbidden Plateau designated as either a provincial or national park was undertaken Saturday by the Associated Chambers of Commerce of Vancouver Island.

In a resolution at the close of the annual convention here, members asked "early action" to acquire the area to be held in perpetuity.

It was pointed out that both provincial and federal governments had shown interest in a federal park for the coastal area.

The ACCVI called for runway lengthening at Patricia Bay International Airport.

The convention criticized appointment of a U.S. architectural planner as consultant for development scheduled at Victoria College.

Members felt a Canadian should have been chosen.

Welfare Debate Tonight

Lively debate is expected tonight when welfare department estimates go before the B.C. legislature.

The sitting will start at either 8 or 8.30 p.m.

The CCF, in particular, is preparing plenty of ammunition to fire at Social Welfare Minister Wesley Black when he rises to seek approval of the House for the money needed to run his department during the next fiscal year.

Tonight's sitting will start with estimates of Recreation Minister Earle Westwood, which were not completed last week.

When they are finished, it will be Mr. Black's turn.

Fifty students from the University of B.C. School of Social Work are on their way to Victoria for the sitting.

"We are concerned over persistent public and private comment about the state of welfare services," Leonard Ghan, leader of the group, said in Vancouver before leaving.

Storm Brewing On Men's Home

Big Increase Seen In Running Costs

By JOHN MIKA

Signs looming over the horizon today forecast another showdown battle over continuation of Mountain View Home during city council's budget sessions next month.

A storm broke out in the 1960 budget session when welfare committee recommended closing the home and moving the men into the proposed new Salvation Army home for aged persons.

Council reversed the recommendation, after a bitter attack by Ald. Geoffrey Edgewood, and insisted that the home be kept open.

NEW FACTORS

No concerted drive to close the home is evident this time but several new factors make it almost inevitable that the issue will come up again—because running costs may double while the real estate value of the property quadruples in one year.

Welfare administrator W. H. Hooson today told the estimates committee that some $12,130 will have to be spent on the home for new wiring and equipment. This would push the city's net costs to $30,135—almost double that of last year.

NEVER FILL UP

But average population of the 43-bed home has only been 27 to 28 men for several months "and it doesn't look like it ever will fill up," said Mr. Hooson.

When committee members commented on the steep climb in costs, Ald. Millard Mooney said "we'll just have to put the money in and let council decide whether to cut it, in view of its decision last year."

Meanwhile, an Oak Bay council decision to permit high rise apartment buildings in certain areas of the municipality, undoubtedly will exert pressure for the home's sale.

The four-acre property at Cadboro Bay and Cranmore already is zoned for apartment use. It was expected to produce about $40,000 revenue if sold as recommended last year.

But this value could soar to $160,000 if Oak Bay permitted a high rise development on the property according to one estimate that high rise sites generally are worth $40,000 per acre.

Criminal Charges Studied After True Story Heard

Shooting of a 16-year-old Langford boy Friday involved three other youths, Colwood RCMP said today, after learning the original story of the incident was false.

Police are considering criminal charges in the affair, involving a sawed-off .22 rifle, near Dewdney Flats Friday afternoon.

The boys said one had been hit by a stray bullet from far-off shooting as they rested during a hike.

Log Boom Battle May End With Candidate's Help

By FRANK BUTLER

View Royal residents believe their fight to keep log booms out of Esquimalt Harbor will win five months for a decision from the provincial government.

More than 100 of them protested plans of a group of mill owners to get a provincial lease allowing them to boom logs in the harbor.

This was at a public hearing Oct. 12, 1960. Shortly afterward lands department officials reported on the hearing and passed a recommendation on to Lands and Forests Minister Ray Williston.

But today Mr. Williston said a decision depends on the federal government.

He said discussions have been held with federal officials.

Estimates Combed By Committee

Annual grind through estimated expenditures for the year began at City Hall today when welfare and parks committee dived into departmental proposals.

Estimates totalling $1,170,000 for welfare expenditures were approved with only $300 cut off by the committee before they were sent to council.

Only $282,500 actually will be paid by the city after provincial grants are calculated but this still will be up about $50,000 from 1960.

PEAK REACHED

Welfare administrator William Hooson said he was budgeting $160,000 for assistance to unemployed—no more than last year—because the provincial government budget indicated "a hope that we've reached the peak in unemployment now."

Committee was still working slowly through a parks department estimate totalling $644,965—up about $210,000 from 1960.

Hospital's Pay-to-Park Defended

Royal Jubilee Hospital president Courtney Haddock today defended a proposal to introduce a "pay as you park" policy at the hospital.

He said an expensive new plan is being worked out for improving driveways and parking areas on the grounds which would be fenced and lighted. These are required in conjunction with the new wing.

No decision on the plan has been made but if it goes ahead revenue will be needed to pay for it.

NOMINAL FEE

"A very nominal fee of 10 cents for all day is being considered after which the revenue can be devoted to further improvements in the hospital care of our patients."

"Surely those who can afford to drive a car, can afford such a nominal sum for safe, convenient and protected parking for the full day. If not, there are plenty of streets close at hand."

He said a parking fee is charged now at the General and St. Paul's Hospitals in Vancouver.

Hide Those Hair Rollers Beneath a Frou Frou Cap

By PENNY SAVER

Buffant hair style, so popular with many Victoria women, is flattering and feminine in the final picture but a mess of rollers when it is being whipped up. One of my friends solved this problem by investing in a darling frou frou cap, latest brain-child of a New York designer. Copious enough to fit over any amount of rollers its made of tier upon tier of dainty narrow lace, has an inner lining of matching nylon and an elasticized headband.

Each cap has a jaunty sprig of pastel-toned forget-me-nots in centre of crown. Flowers are highlighted with matching bow of narrow ribbon. They come in either white, pink or blue and can be adjusted to any angle including saucy French beret style.

Another new idea to come out of New York is the patio pyjama, in drip dry cotton and smart enough to wear in bed or on the patio.

Pyjamas have slim jim trousers that are elasticated at back waistline for perfect fit. Tops have Oriental look in their side seam slits. They have scoop necklines, short sleeves and tie belts.

Trousers come in solid colors of either avocado or blue while tops are in a gay figured design of avocado and white or blue and white. Pyjamas are a good buy at $4.95.

Many a high school girl sports a cheeky teakwood mouse on her blouse or sweater. Now there are Danish cats to match. Cats have little ears and tail of leather and glittering colored rhinestones form their eyes.

Designed with a flat base, they can be used as a sweater pin or as a knick-knack. They're priced at 45 cents.

DEAR ABBY

Your Turn, Hank!

By ABIGAIL VAN BUREN

DEAR ABBY: "Hank the Barber" wants to raise the price of haircuts to $5. He feels this is justifiable because he spent $600 learning the trade, and $50 for clippers. I plan to be an engineer. Because I will tend college two and a half years longer than Hank, I will lose $15,000 more pay. This means I will spend four years and $20,000.

When I graduate I certainly won't expect to be paid $5 for 15 minutes' work. If Hank is right in saying that the earnings of a man should be based on the amount he has spent to learn this profession, I should earn $664 per hour.

COLLEGE STUDENT

DEAR ABBY: A barber complained because his training cost him $600. Then he had to pay $50 for clippers. I am a school teacher. My education cost me $20,000 and it took me years to get it. My books cost me hundreds more. Furthermore, I am accountable to the principal, the school board and the parents of all my students. I have to weigh my words during school hours and live like a saint afterwards. If the barber wants $5 for one hair cut, which takes 15 minutes, how much should I charge for teaching his kids for a year?

WHY GROW OLD?

By JOSEPHINE LOWMAN

Menopause Isn't an Illness And Shouldn't Be Feared

Once in a while I like to try to take the "ghosts" out of menopause. Judging from mail from my readers there are still many old wives' tales haunting it. Menopause is not an illness. It is as natural a part of a woman's life as puberty. One marks the beginning of childbearing period and the other the end of it. Most women who are in good health weather menopause with little discomfort, some with none at all.

Physicians have told me that much of the trouble women have with menopause is psychological; they are afraid of it. And why not, when they hear that a woman ages rapidly after menopause, that she may lose her mind during it and that romance will be dead.

However, there are dangers connected with menopause. One is the danger that a woman may damage her family life by taking herself too seriously, rather than laughing at her moods and knowing they will pass and she will again be her usual, happy self. And her husband should laugh with her. I think that husbands should definitely be connected with menopause. Heather Hamilton Married In St. Andrew's Church

Wedding of wide interest took place Friday evening in St. Andrew's Presbyterian Church when Miss Janet Heather Hamilton exchanged vows with Robert John Bowen.

Tall standards of daffodils and white stocks formed a background as the bride entered the church on the arm of her father, Dr. J. L. W. McLean officiated. Malcolm Hamilton, Seattle, the bride's brother, played organ music.

Parents of the bride and groom are Mr. and Mrs. W. J. Hamilton, 2515 Beach Drive, and Mr. and Mrs. John E. Bowen, of Vancouver.

Bridal gown was of white nylon sheer over taffeta, styled with a bouffant, floor-length skirt and a basque bodice with shirred cap sleeves and scooped neckline. Swiss lace trimmed the neckline and circled the hooped skirt. There was a soft bow at back waistline and the skirt extended into a cathedral train.

Misting from a coronet of seed pearls and rhinestones was a silk illusion bow. A cascade bouquet of yellow roses, white hyacinths and white heather completed the ensemble.

Miss Lindsay Agnew, maid of honor, was in a gown of white embossed nylon organza over yellow taffeta. Yellow carnations and white hyacinth bells were in her cascade bouquet.

Mental Illness

Purpose of Canadian Mental Health Association was stressed by an executive director, Andrew Chatten, at meeting of Greater Victoria District of Registered Nurses' Association of B.C.

Because one-half of all hospital beds in Canada are occupied by the mentally ill, he said there is a pressing need for research, education and recruitment in this field.

Raising funds to meet these needs and thus reducing the incidence of mental illness is the work of the Canadian Mental Health Association, he continued.

During a business meeting which followed, the district decided to establish a fund to provide financial assistance for nurses who wish to further their professional education.

R. O. MUNSON

A new concept in hearing-aid design has been announced by Maico Electronics, Inc., pioneer hearing research and manufacturing firm, through its local dealer, R. O. Munson & Co., 640 Fort Street, Victoria, B.C.

A new six-transistor hearing-aid model, designated the "Escort," is the first of its small size to use "push-pull" type input and output stages, similar to the circuitry used in high-fidelity and other quality sound systems. Maico engineers say that the application is the first in which this circuitry has been miniaturized for use in a small behind-the-ear hearing aid.

The "Escort," weighing just over one-half ounce, is held in place by a tiny transparent tube which carries amplified sound to the ear. It features increased power and clarity, and offers correction of more severe hearing losses than could formerly be helped by at-the-ear models, according to Mr. Munson. The new aid is one of 12 models currently offered by Maico dealers. They include hearing glasses, ear-level models, and "conventional" units worn in a pocket or concealed in a hairdo.

Although designed for full-time use, behind-the-ear aids have become quite popular with persons who have difficulty hearing at certain times, in church, theatre, or in a group conversation. The small aids can be carried in a pocket and slipped into place as easily as putting on eye-glasses. Industry spokesmen report an increasing trend toward this type of aid.

Mr. Munson has just returned from Seattle, Wash., where he attended a regional meeting of Maico dealers. Local offices are located on the Ground Floor, 640 Fort Street. Telephone EV 3-2436.

JFK ASKS MORE MONEY FOR FOREIGN PROGRAMS

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Kennedy asked Congress today to boost next year's U.S. budget by nearly $5,000,000,000.

He sought, among other things, additional funds to step up state department activities in Africa, strengthen the U.S. information agency's program in Africa and Latin America and expand the U.S. staff at the United Nations.

THE BLACK HEART OF HITLER

HE INTENDED TO MARRY HIS NIECE

(Second of a series)

It was with his niece that Adolf Hitler had, so far as is known, the only deep love affair of his life.

In the summer of 1928 Hitler rented the villa Wachenfeld on the Obersalzberg above Berchtesgaden for 100 marks a month ($25) and induced his widowed half-sister, Angela Raubal, to come from Vienna to keep house for him in the first home which he could call his own.

... only one love affair

Frau Raubal brought along her two daughters, Geli and Friedl. Geli was 20, with flowing blond hair, handsome features, a pleasant voice and a sunny disposition which made her attractive to men.

Hitler soon fell in love with her. He took her everywhere, to meetings and conferences, on long walks in the mountains and to the cafes and theatres in Munich. When in 1929 he rented a luxurious nine-room apartment in one of the most fashionable thoroughfares in Munich, Geli was given her own room in it.

Gossip about the party leader and his beautiful blond niece was inevitable in Munich and throughout Nazi circles in southern Germany. Some of the more prim—or envious—leaders suggested that Hitler cease showing off his youthful sweetheart in public, or that he marry her. Hitler was furious at such talk and in one quarrel over the matter he fired the Gauleiter of Wuerzburg.

Deeply in Love

It is probable that Hitler intended to marry his niece. Early party comrades who were close to him at that time subsequently told this author that a marriage seemed inevitable. That Hitler was deeply in love with her they had no doubt. Her own feelings are a matter of conjecture. That she was flattered by the attentions of a man now becoming famous, and indeed enjoyed them is obvious.

Whether she reciprocated her uncle's love is not known; probably not, and in the end certainly not. Some deep rift whose origins and nature have never been fully ascertained grew between them.

There has been much speculation but little evidence. Each was apparently jealous of the other. She resented his attentions to other women—to Winifred Wagner, among others. He suspected that she had had a clandestine affair with Emil Maurice, the ex-convict who had been his bodyguard.

Forbade Her

She objected too to her uncle's tyranny over her. He did not want her to be seen in the company of any man but himself. He forbade her to go to Vienna to continue her singing lessons, squelching her ambition for a career on the operatic stage. He wanted her for himself alone.

There are dark hints too that she was repelled by the masochistic inclinations of her lover, but this brutal tyrant in politics yearned to be enslaved by the woman he loved—a not uncommon urge in the sexologists.

Whatever it was that darkened the love between the uncle and his niece, their quarrels became more violent and at the end of the summer of 1931 Geli announced that she was returning to Vienna to resume her voice studies. Hitler forbade her to go.

There was a scene between the two, witnessed by neighbors. Continued on Page 10

HALIFAX, HERE WE COME!

Leg muscles are fine now, but what will they be like in three months' time after a cross-country hike that Don Johnson, left, and Blaine Tring-ham hope to complete by then? The Jaycees are set to leave for Halifax tonight, plan to march out of Halifax Wednesday on 4,000-mile walk home.

BIAS CHARGE REVIVED

Oust Matthew Move by CCF

An official request for removal of Deputy Speaker Alex Matthew from office has been made by the CCF.

Arthur Turner (CCF, Vancouver East) has filed notice of motion on the legislature's order paper that Mr. Matthew should not hold office because of bias.

This was the spark that ignited one of the most furious rows heard in the House in years last Thursday night during debate on Bill 42.

Mr. Turner's motion says the deputy speaker, Social Credit MLA for Vancouver Centre, "has violated all the cherished traditions of this high office."

The reason was a letter written to a Vancouver newspaper last week in which Mr. Matthews supported Bill 42, and attacked its critics.

The letter was signed by Mr. Matthews as deputy speaker. Mr. Turner's motion says that an MLA occupying the office of deputy speaker, acting as "judge" over the legislative debates, should be by tradition completely impartial.

Mr. Turner moves: "This House therefore regrets that the member referred to no longer enjoys the full confidence of this House and must be removed from office."

Sask. Hikes Pensions On 'Needs Test' Basis

REGINA (CP) — A. M. Nicholson, Saskatchewan minister of social welfare and rehabilitation announced today in the legislature an increase of more than $2,000,000 annually in provincial pension allowances.

He said eligibility will be determined by a "needs test" rather than the existing "means test."

The changes will be effective Nov. 1, 1961.

The minister also announced similar changes in the mothers' allowances program to come into effect July 1, 1961. He said the program will be known as aid to dependent families.

Both allowances have been financed entirely by the provincial government, but under the new "needs test" arrangement the federal government will share the supplemental allowance on a 50-50 basis and also will pay about 15 per cent of the mothers' allowance.

KEENLEYSIDE BLASTS HARKNESS

TORONTO (CP) — Dr. Hugh Keenleyside of Victoria, chairman of the Canadian National Committee for the Control of Radiation Hazards, today accused Defence Minister Harkness of "McCarthy" tactics in smearing people who oppose Canada joining the nuclear club.

Speaking at the committee's annual meeting, Mr. Keenleyside, chairman of the B.C. Power Commission, said Mr. Harkness labels all critics of Ottawa's defence policies as "pacifists and neutralists." He follows the good old McCarthy tradition and carries on his propaganda by lumping all opposition together," he said. "It's time for him to start playing the game honestly."

He said Canadian scientists have shown "little evidence of any sense of responsibility for telling the Canadian people what will happen if an all-out nuclear war occurs."

Police Use Tear Gas On Rioters

BULAWAYO, Southern Rhodesia (AP) — An open-air meeting of African nationalists turned into a stone-throwing riot Sunday. Police fired tear gas to break up the crowd of 30,000 Negroes.

The Africans panicked and tore down fences to get away from the choking fumes. Three Negro policemen and two spectators at the National Democratic party meeting were reported injured.

Before the outbreak, Joshua Nkomo, the party president, praised the late premier Patrice Lumumba of the Congo as a worthy leader and told the crowd "the European countries are on the wane."

Near Chingol, in the Northern Rhodesian copper belt, an African crowd damaged a white man's car after it accidentally struck and injured a Negro girl.

The European occupants of the car fled when police showed up. The Negro crowd stoned their vehicle and some African youths went into a mine compound and beat up two Negro policemen.

Man Killed Up-Island

A 74-year-old man, resident of Cumberland most of his life, died Saturday after being struck by a car while walking across an intersection in the up-island town.

Arthur Edlund, 60, also of Cumberland, was charged with criminal negligence in connection with the man's death, and was scheduled to appear in court today.

Police are withholding the name of the victim until next of kin have been notified.

Congolese Aid UN Against 'Witches'

LEOPOLDVILLE (AP) — A joint force of United Nations troops and Congolese of the Stanleyville regime got through to Kasongo today in their drive against fanatical witchcraft gangs terrorizing Kivu province.

The column, made up of 150 UN Malay soldiers and 50 Congolese, flashed a terse message to UN headquarters here saying: "All is well."

The 200-mile drive to Kasongo from the UN base at Kindu-dubbed Operation Distress—apparently met no resistance from the bow-and-arrow gangs who say they will "kill all whites." The trip took 24 hours.

An estimated 30 whites, thought to be mainly missionaries and plantation owners, are believed still in the Kasongo area, a centre of the witchcraft cult.

'Hero's Welcome' By White Crowd

JOHANNESBURG (Reuters) — Prime Minister Hendrik Verwoerd today told a huge crowd of white South Africans greeting his return from the Commonwealth prime ministers' conference that Africans and Asians were taking over the Commonwealth.

Verwoerd flew in from London a few hours after police arrested 10 Negro leaders and prepared for anti-government demonstrations over South Africa's withdrawal from the family of nations. (See also page 5.)

He was greeted at Jan Smuts airport by a cheering, hymn-singing crowd estimated at between 50,000 and 60,000.

Verwoerd said: "We have released ourselves from the pressure of the Afro-Asians who have been taking over the Commonwealth. We are not prepared to let them dictate to us."

'We Helped U.K. Out of Tough Spot'

He said relations between South Africa and Britain now are better because "we helped her get out of a difficult position... by not laying on the United Kingdom the invidious choice between other members and ourselves."

The arrest of the 10 Negro leaders appeared aimed at heading off any organized protest against Verwoerd's policies.

There was a brief outbreak of violence here today when 300 white women marched through the streets protesting apartheid—the Verwoerd regime's strict race segregation program which resulted in the decision to leave the multi-racial Commonwealth.

A small group of white university students counter-demonstrated with banners reading "South African women are not Congo nuns." Members of a watching crowd attacked the students and all but one of their banners was brought down in a whirl of fists.

The South African Press Association described the clash as a "full-scale riot." The agency report quoted by The Associated Press, said: "European whites ran amok among the natives in the crowd, kicking and striking at them. The Africans fled down the street. There was a cry of 'let's clean up those...' and then the white mob turned on another crowd of Blacks, who scattered and fled. A number of them were caught, however, and beaten up by the mob."

The airport crowd, including many school children, given a special half-holiday for the occasion, sang both hymns and patriotic songs as Verwoerd left his plane.

Strong security precautions were taken for the arrival of the prime minister, wounded by a gunman in an assassination attempt last year.

He got a "hero's welcome" and a 21-gun salute at the airport.

But as protest meetings against the pull-out decision were being planned, the English-language Rand Daily Mail of Johannesburg declared Verwoerd deserved "anything but a hero's welcome."

Two clergymen and Jordan Ngubane, vice-president of the multi-racial Liberal party, were among the leaders arrested in their homes in the Johannesburg area, Durban, Bloemfontein and Port Elizabeth.

The arrested men face charges under the Unlawful Organizations' Act and the Suppression of Communism Act.

Police said those arrested were members or former members of an organizing

Bantu Areas Speeded Up

CAPE TOWN (Reuters) — South Africa today announced creation of the post of director of Bantu African development whose job will be the "faster development" of Bantu areas.

Bantu areas, known as "bantustans," are separate areas set aside for Negroes under the government's apartheid racial segregation policy.

Daan de Wet Nel, minister of Bantu administration and development, said it was the intention of the government to give "special attention" to developing Bantu "homelands."

LUSH CAMP SCORED

WASHINGTON (AP) — The House of Representatives foreign affairs committee has released a report critical of a $65,000,000 camp built for the Pakistan army with U.S. money.

The report said the camp contained:

Frilly bathroom fixtures for soldiers who rarely shave themselves.

Hot water systems that are unused because they are not understood.

Walk-in refrigerators for meat that is daily slaughtered, cooked and eaten on the spot.

The committee released the report in spite of a defence department objection that publicity "would do injustice to the military assistance program."

WIRE BRIEFS

Rioting in Algeria

ORAN, Algeria (Reuters) — Police clashed today with some 3,000 Moslem demonstrators in nearby Mostaganem and the army occupied the west Algerian town with tanks and armored cars. Three persons were reported injured.

Conciliation Near?

LEOPOLDVILLE, The Congo (AP) — Rebel leader Antoine Gizenga was reported Sunday to be working toward conciliation with President Joseph Kasavubu despite his face-saving rejection of the Congolese confederation proposed by his political rivals.

Bridge Fall Kills 23

CAIRO (AP) — A suspension bridge collapsed into a canal Sunday at an Egyptian picnic grounds, 50 miles north of Cairo, and police reported today that 23 persons were drowned. Attracted by a burst of fireworks on the other side of the bridge, a mob raced across. Cables holding the span snapped and all fell into water 18 feet deep.

Train Cars Flip

LONDON (AP) — Three coaches of a packed commuter train overturned in a rush hour collision near London Bridge today but only a dozen or so passengers were reported injured.

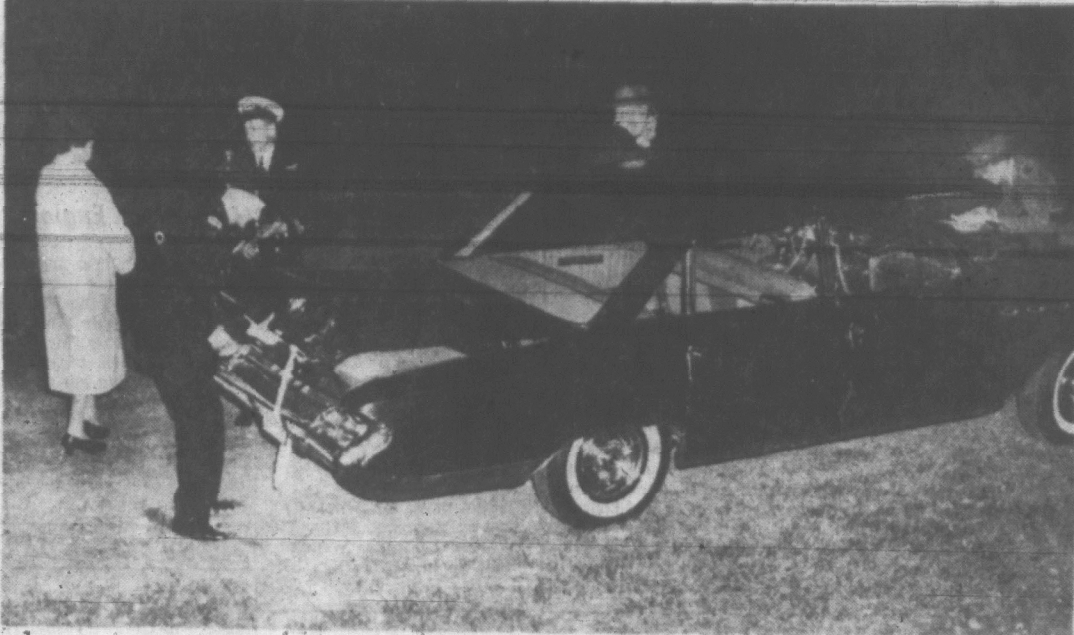

'Sympathetic'

OTTAWA (CP) — Prime Minister Diefenbaker and members of his cabinet were reported today to be sympathetic to urgings by the Retail Merchants' Association for a clear-cut ban on trading stamps.

D. A. Gilbert of Toronto, general manager of the national association, said a brief presented to the prime minister, Trade Minister Hees and Justice Minister Fulton was given "an excellent reception."

GOVERNOR, WIFE ESCAPE INJURIES IN COLLISION

New limousine of Lieutenant-Governor George Pearkes was involved in three-car crash that injured one person and caused $500-$600 damage on Patricia Bay Highway just before midnight Saturday. The governor and Mrs. Pearkes returning from Salt Spring Island, escaped injury when their car, driven by Ross Hartnell, pulled up behind one driver, by Nona D. Payne, Madrona Drive, when it stalled on a hill north of Keating Cross Road. Third car, driven by Francis L. Crofton, 2530 Windsor, was in collision with the lieutenant-governor's car, causing it to hit the first auto, sending Mrs. Crofton into the windshield. She was treated for face cuts. PUBLISHER'S NOTEBOOK

By Stuart Keate

Weekend faces in the crowd:

HAROLD OCKENDEN. A retired shipwright-leutenant in the RCN, Harold has one of the most fascinating hobbies in town: recreating the ship's badges and crests of the Canadian navy. Already he's worked his way through about 80, figures he has another 40 or so to go, and can tell you the story behind each badge. His ambition: to see produced, in color, a book which would preserve these heraldic stories for posterity.

BILL PINFOLD. Brown as an alligator wallet, Bill celebrated his return from Honolulu by scoring an ace on the 121-year eighth hole at Oak Bay. Asked how he did it, the Great Man shrugged modestly and said: "I just made a perfect shot, that's all."

MARIE MILBURN. A journalist turned musician (or is it the other way around?), Marie drew plaudits from an audience of admiring parents at Oak Bay High Saturday night as she led Victoria's Junior Symphony in an impressive program, scarcely batted an eye when a cymbal broke loose at the end of Haydn's "Military" symphony, adding a musical exclamation point which wasn't in the score.

KEN DAVIS. Chatting about Denise Wilde's award as "best supporting actress" in the school's drama festival, Ken recalled his one-and-only sock-and-buskin appearance here 36 years ago, in a drama called (hold on to your hats): "The Six Who Passed While the Lentils Boil."

BILL ENGLISH. The naval research scientist, getting in a bit of Beethoven (Sunday) while the getting's good: in a few days he's off for the North Arctic, where he'll roam the wastes in an ice tractor, measuring underwater sound-waves.

HELEN ORT. When she went on the stage of the Royal Sunday afternoon to present Elizabeth Benson Guy with a bouquet, the star wasn't there. So what do you do, with 1,500 people out front, flowers in your arm, and no body to hand them to? Mistress Helen waited until Hans Gruber retrieved the soprano, offered a fetching curtsy and—for good measure—tossed in one for concert master Clifford Evans. So, with 200 artists on the stage, Helen stole the show.

ED SULIVAN. Slightly Paar-boiled after the week's most fatuous debate, Ed came out swinging Sunday night with a musical Life of Lerner and Lowe. But after he reached "Camelot" it was more of a low than a learner.

TOPICS OF THE DAY

H. K. Avery was elected president of Esquimalt Dockyard branch, Canadian Legion, at the branch's recent annual meeting. Elected with Mr. Avery were first vice-president J. E. Radley and second vice-president T. Dobson.

G. R. Harvey will be Sergeant at Arms and committee members for the next year will be H. Ward, B. S. Chambers, E. J. Gilhen, J. Findlay, E. Smart, E. W. Towers and W. C. Brown.

Andy Wong, Victoria's Chinatown Lions Club, tied for first place with a Vancouver man in a public speaking contest

ASK THE TIMES

Q. How many wives has Monte Roberts as he often refers to "My Favorite Wife" in his column? R.S.

A. The many wives of Monte Roberts (according to Roberts) include: an intimate friend, a judicious advisor, an expert on hockey, football and assorted sports, a mother, grandmother, source of ideas for his column, housekeeper, cooker of superlative stews, highly-respected business world figure, talented conversationalist and as all-around a good fellow as your gal Sal. If this doesn't get him breakfast in bed next Sunday, nothing will.

Q. What height do the highest cacti reach? A.I.

A. Up to 70 feet. This is the Saguaro cactus of Arizona, California and Mexico.

Anyone wishing a question answered is invited to send the question along to The Times, addressed to "Ask the Times" Editor. Questions and answers will be published daily.

at a meeting of district 19A of Lions International in Bell-ingham during the weekend. Mr. Wong spoke on the program of swim classes run by his club.

Another Victoria, Neils Foster, was elected president of Zone A-4 at the meeting.

Burglars broke into two doctor's offices at the weekend, taking a total $65 cash.

Offices of Dr. David Vey, 829 Douglas, were entered by breaking a window from a fire escape, and a glass door leading to the next-door offices of Dr. J. H. Moreau also was smashed.

At Tye Shell Service, Esquimalt Road, someone smashed a window and took money and cigarettes from coin-operated vending machines.

A prayer and healing study group will meet in Christ Church Cathedral Memorial Hall Wednesday afternoon at 3.

Winter Delivers Windy Farewell

Winter took one wild, windy swing at Victoria before giving way to spring sharp at 12.32 p.m. today, but it left the city practically unmarked.

Wind picked up speed overnight, and by 3.30 a.m. was blowing at a steady 40 miles per hour. Peak speed was 68 miles per hour, reached at 4.45 a.m.

Damage was slight and in sharp contrast to the storm of a week ago when B.C. Electric and B.C. Telephone crews worked all day Sunday and most of Monday repairing damaged lines.

B.C. Electric today reported "just a few individual services out," while a B.C. Telephone spokesman said weekend trouble was "just a little more than normal for a Sunday."

Some fears were held for the commercial daffodil crop, now being picked for the eastern market, but Gordon Head producer, G. A. Vantreigh, said his fields were harmed only slightly.

"Some of the blooms were bruised," he said, "but we are picking buds, and damage to them was negligible."

Weatherman William MacKie said this first day of spring will end with only a few clouds tonight and light winds. Another weather system on its way here will give southeasterly winds up to 20 miles per hour Tuesday afternoon, with showers by Tuesday evening.

Temperatures tonight and Tuesday will range between 38 and 55 degrees.

Charge of Rape Ordered Dropped

A young sailor charged with rape had charges against him dropped due to "lack of evidence," the attorney-general's department said today.

James McKinney, HMCS Naden, had previously undergone a preliminary hearing involving a 15-year-old girl, a ward of welfare authorities. He had been scheduled to appear at the Spring Assize which opened here today.

When giving judgment earlier, Magistrate William Ostler criticized a four-day delay between laying of the complaint and the filing of information with police.

City Man's Trial Opens Sitting Of Assize Court

Trial of Arthur Thomas Reeve, 1270 Bay, charged with breaking, entering and theft at a drug store last December, opened in Assize Court here today.

This is the first of five trials scheduled during the Assize, expected to last three weeks. Reeve is accused of breaking into Plaza Drugs, 3659 Shelbourne, Dec. 26, and stealing goods valued at about $100.

The trial is expected to take two days.

Scheduled for appearance Wednesday is William Stewart, Kemp Lake Road, charged with criminal negligence driving involving the death of brothers Jack and Tom Cameron, both of Sooke Road, crushed between a car and a tow truck Oct. 21.

DRIVE PLANNED BY CHAMBERS

Park Status Asked for Plateau

A drive to have Vancouver Island's Forbidden Plateau designated as either a provincial or national park was undertaken Saturday by the Associated Chambers of Commerce of Vancouver Island.

In a resolution at the close of the annual convention here, members asked "early action" to acquire the area to be held in perpetuity.

It was pointed out that both provincial and federal governments had shown interest in a federal park for the coastal area.

The ACCVI called for runway lengthening at Patricia Bay International Airport.

The convention criticized appointment of a U.S. architectural planner as consultant for development scheduled for Victoria College.

Welfare Debate Tonight

Lively debate is expected tonight when welfare department estimates go before the B.C. legislature.

The sitting will start at either 8 or 8.30 p.m.

The CCF, in particular, is preparing plenty of ammunition to fire at Social Welfare Minister Wesley Black when he rises to seek approval of the House for the money needed to run his department during the next fiscal year.

Tonight's sitting will start with estimates of Recreation Minister Earle Westwood, which were not completed last week.

When they are finished, it will be Mr. Black's turn.

Fifty students from the University of B.C. School of Social Work are on their way to Victoria for the sitting.

"We are concerned over persistent public and private comment about the state of welfare services," Leonard Ghan, leader of the group, said in Vancouver before leaving.

WILLIAM HOOSON

... higher costs

Storm Brewing On Men's Home

By JOHN MIKA

Signs looming over the horizon today forecast another showdown battle over continuation of Mountain View Home during city council's budget sessions next month.

A storm broke out in the 1960 budget session when welfare committee recommended closing the home and moving the men into the proposed new Salvation Army home for aged persons.

Council reversed the recommendation, after a bitter attack by Ald. Geoffrey Edgewood, and insisted that the home be kept open.

NEW FACTORS

No concerted drive to close the home is evident this time but several new factors make it almost inevitable that the issue will come up again—because running costs may double while the real estate value of the property quadruples in one year.

Welfare administrator W. H. Hooson today told the estimates committee that some $12,130 will have to be spent on the home for new wiring and equipment. This would push the city's net costs to $30,135—almost double that of last year.

NEVER FILL UP

But average population of the 43-bed home has only been 27 to 28 men for several months "and it doesn't look like it ever will fill up," said Mr. Hooson.

When committee members commented on the steep climb in costs, Ald. Millard Mooney said "we'll just have to put the money in and let council decide whether to cut it, in view of its decision last year."

Meanwhile, an Oak Bay council decision to permit high rise apartment buildings in certain areas of the municipality, undoubtedly will exert pressure for the home's sale.

The four-acre property at Cadboro Bay and Cranmore already is zoned for apartment use. It was expected to produce about $40,000 revenue if sold as recommended last year. But this value could soar to $160,000 if Oak Bay permitted a high rise development on the property according to one estimate that high rise sites generally are worth $40,000 per acre.

Criminal Charges Studied After True Story Heard

Shooting of a 16-year-old Langford boy Friday involved three other youths, Colwood RCMP said today, after learning the original story of the incident was false.

Police are considering criminal charges in the affair, involving a sawed-off .22 rifle, near Dewdney Flats Friday afternoon.

The boys said one had been hit by a stray bullet from far-off shooting as they rested during a hike.

Estimates Combed By Committee

Annual grind through estimated expenditures for the year began at City Hall today when welfare and parks committee dived into departmental proposals.

Estimates totalling $1,170,000 for welfare expenditures were approved with only $300 cut off by the committee before they were sent to council.

Only $282,500 actually will be paid by the city after provincial grants are calculated but this still will be up about $50,000 from 1960.

PEAK REACHED

Welfare administration William Hooson said he was budgeting $160,000 for assistance to unemployed—no more than last year—because the provincial government budget indicated "a hope that we've reached the peak in unemployment now."

Committee was still working slowly through a parks department estimate totalling $644,965—up about $210,000 from 1960.

Hospital's Pay-to-Park Defended

Royal Jubilee Hospital president Courtney Haddock today defended a proposal to introduce a "pay as you park" policy at the hospital.

He said an expensive new plan is being worked out for improving driveways and parking areas on the grounds which would be fenced and lighted. These are required in conjunction with the new wing.

No decision on the plan has been made but if it goes ahead revenue will be needed to pay for it.

NOMINAL FEE

A very nominal fee of 10 cents for all day is being considered after which the revenue can be devoted to further improvements in the hospital care of our patients.

"Surely those who can afford to drive a car, can afford such a nominal sum for safe, convenient and protected parking for the full day. If not, there are plenty of streets close at hand."

He said a parking fee is charged now at the General and St. Paul's Hospitals in Vancouver.

Log Boom Battle May End With Candidate's Help

By FRANK RUTTER

View Royal residents believe their fight to keep log booms out of Esquimalt Harbor will be won with the aid of the local Social Credit candidate.

They are enlisting the support of George Hahn, the Social Credit candidate for the Esquimalt-Saanich seat.

They decided this at a meeting Sunday after waiting in vain five months for a decision from the provincial government.

More than 100 of them protested plans of a group of mill-owners to get a provincial lease allowing them to boom logs in the harbor.

This was at a public hearing Oct. 12, 1960. Shortly afterward lands department officials reported on the hearing and passed a recommendation on to Lands and Forests Minister Ray Williston.

But today Mr. Williston said a decision depends on the federal government.

He said discussions have been held with federal officials.

This was necessary because the federal government controls part of the harbor.

Officials in the B.C. lands department said they do not know why no decision has been made. They say Mr. Williston told them he was seeking "further information."

J. C. Sutherland, 549 View Royal, said the local residents decided to seek the aid of Mr. Hahn at a meeting Sunday.

He said they had already written to Premier Bennett and received this reply, signed by an aide:

"No dictation either from the premier or his minister is accorded such decisions."

The letter said the decision would follow "democratic processes."

THE BLACK HEART OF HITLER

TO MARRY
HIS NIECE

(Second of a series)

It was with his niece that Adolf Hitler had, so far as is known, the only deep love affair of his life.

In the summer of 1928 Hitler rented the villa Wachenfeld on the Obersalzberg above Berchtesgaden for 100 marks a month ($25) and induced his widowed half-sister, Angela Raubal, to come from Vienna to keep house for him in the first home which he could call his own.

Frau Raubal brought along her two daughters, Geli and Friedl. Geli was 20, with flowing blond hair, handsome features, a pleasant voice and a sunny disposition which made her attractive to men.

Hitler soon fell in love with her. He took her everywhere, to meetings and conferences, on long walks in the mountains and to the cafes and theatres in Munich. When in 1929 he rented a luxurious nine-room apartment in one of the most fashionable thoroughfares in Munich, Geli was given her own room in it.

Gossip about the party leader and his beautiful blond niece was inevitable in Munich and throughout Nazi circles in southern Germany. Some of the more prim—or envious—leaders suggested that Hitler cease showing off his youthful sweetheart in public, or that he marry her. Hitler was furious at such talk and in one quarrel over the matter he fired the Gauleiter of Wuerzburg.

Deeply in Love

It is probable that Hitler intended to marry his niece. Early party comrades who were close to him at that time subsequently told this author that a marriage seemed inevitable. That Hitler was deeply in love with her they had no doubt. Her own feelings are a matter of conjecture. That she was flattered by the attentions of a man now becoming famous, and indeed enjoyed them is obvious.

Whether she reciprocated her uncle's love is not known; probably not, and in the end certainly not. Some deep rift whose origins and nature have never been fully ascertained grew between them.

There has been much speculation but little evidence. Each was apparently jealous of the other. She resented his attentions to other women—to Winifred Wagner, among others. He suspected that she had had a clandestine affair with Emil Maurice, the ex-convict who had been his bodyguard.

Forbade Her

She objected too to her uncle's tyranny over her. He did not want her to be seen in the company of any man but himself. He forbade her to go to Vienna to continue her singing lessons, squelching her ambition for a career on the operatic stage. He wanted her for himself alone.

There are dark hints too that she was repelled by the masochistic inclinations of her lover, but this brutal tyrant in politics yearned to be enslaved by the women he loved—a not uncommon urge in such men, according to the sexologists.

Whatever it was that darkened the love between the uncle and his niece, their quarrels became more violent and at the end of the summer of 1931 Geli announced that she was returning to Vienna to resume her voice studies. Hitler forbade her to go.

There was a scene between the two, witnessed by neighbors.

KEENLEYSIDE
HARKNESS

TORONTO (CP)—Dr. Hugh Keenleyside of Victoria, chairman of the Canadian National Committee for the Control of Radiation Hazards, today accused Defence Minister Harkness of "McCarthy" tactics in smearing people who oppose Canada joining the nuclear club.

Speaking at the committee's annual meeting, Mr. Keenleyside, chairman of the B.C. Power Commission, said Mr. Harkness labels all critics of Ottawa's defence policies as "pacifists and neutralists." He follows the good old McCarthy tradition and carries on his propaganda by lumping all opposition together," he said. "It's time for him to start playing the game honestly."

He said Canadian scientists have shown "little evidence of any sense of responsibility for telling the Canadian people what will happen if an all-out nuclear war occurs."

Police Use
Tear Gas
On Rioters

BULAWAYO, Southern Rhodesia (AP)—An open-air meeting of African nationalists turned into a stone-throwing riot Sunday. Police fired tear gas to break up the crowd of 30,000 Negroes.

The Africans panicked and tore down fences to get away from the choking fumes. Three Negro policemen and two spectators at the National Democratic party meeting were reported injured.

Before the outbreak, Joshua Nkomo, the party president, praised the late premier Patrice Lumumba of the Congo as a worthy leader and told the crowd "the European countries are on the wane."

Near Chingol, in the Northern Rhodesian copper belt, an African crowd damaged a white man's car after it accidentally struck and injured a Negro girl.

The European occupants of the car fled when police showed up. The Negro crowd stoned their vehicle and some African youths went into a mine compound and beat up two Negro policemen.

Man Killed
Up-Island

A 74-year-old man, resident of Cumberland most of his life, died Saturday after being struck by a car while walking across an intersection in the up-island town.

Arthur Edlund, 60, also of Cumberland, was charged with criminal negligence in connection with the man's death, and was scheduled to appear in court today.

Police are withholding the name of the victim until next of kin have been notified.

LUSH CAMP SCORED

Frilly Fixtures
For Non-Shavers

WASHINGTON (AP)—The House of Representatives foreign affairs committee has released a report critical of a $65,000,000 camp built for the Pakistan army with U.S. money.

The report said the camp contained: Frilly bathroom fixtures for soldiers who rarely shave themselves. Hot water systems that are unused because they are not understood.

Walk-in refrigerators for meat that is daily slaughtered, cooked and eaten on the spot. The committee released the report in spite of a defence department objection that publicity "would do injustice to the military assistance program."

Verwoerd Back
From Conference

JOHANNESBURG (Reuters)—Prime Minister Hendrik Verwoerd today told a huge crowd of white South Africans greeting his return from the Commonwealth prime ministers' conference that Africans and Asians were taking over the Commonwealth.

Verwoerd flew in from London a few hours after police arrested 10 Negro leaders and prepared for anti-government demonstrations over South Africa's withdrawal from the family of nations. (See also page 5.)

He was greeted at Jan Smuts airport by a cheering, hymn-singing crowd estimated at between 50,000 and 60,000.

Verwoerd said: "We have released ourselves from the pressure of the Afro-Asians who have been taking over the Commonwealth. We are not prepared to let them dictate to us."

'We Helped U.K. Out of Tough Spot'

He said relations between South Africa and Britain now are better because "we helped her get out of a difficult position... by not laying on the United Kingdom the invidious choice between other members and ourselves."

The arrest of the 10 Negro leaders appeared aimed at heading off any organized protest against Verwoerd's policies.

There was a brief outbreak of violence here today when 300 white women marched through the streets protesting apartheid—the Verwoerd regime's strict race segregation program which resulted in the decision to leave the multi-racial Commonwealth.

A small group of white university students counter-demonstrated with banners reading "South African women are not Congo nuns." Members of a watching crowd attacked the students and all but one of their banners was brought down in a whirl of fists.

The South African Press Association described the clash as a "full-scale riot." The agency report quoted by The Associated Press, said:

"European whites ran amok among the natives in the crowd, kicking and striking out at them. The Africans fled down the street. There was a cry of 'let's clean up those...' and then the white mob turned on another crowd of blacks, who scattered and fled. A number of them were caught, however, and beaten up by the mob."

The airport crowd, including many school children, given a special half-holiday for the occasion, sang both hymns and patriotic songs as Verwoerd left his plane.

Strong security precautions were taken for the arrival of the prime minister, wounded by a gunman in an assassination attempt last year.

He got a "hero's welcome" and a 21-gun salute at the airport.

But as protest meetings against the pull-out decision were being planned, the English-language Rand Daily Mail of Johannesburg declared Verwoerd deserved "anything but a hero's welcome."

Two clergymen and Jordan Ngubane, vice-president of the multi-racial Liberal party, were among the leaders arrested in their homes in the Johannesburg area, Durban, Bloemfontein and Port Elizabeth.

The arrested men face charges under the Unlawful Organizations Act and the Suppression of Communism Act.

Police said those arrested were members or former members of an organizing committee for an all-African Negro conference to be held in Pietermaritzburg next weekend. A discussion of worsening race relations is included in the conference agenda.

The arrests came on the eve of the first anniversary of the Sharpeville shootings, in which 69 persons were killed and 180 injured when police opened fire on a crowd of Negroes.

Bridge Fall Kills 23

CAIRO (AP)—A suspension bridge collapsed into a canal Sunday at an Egyptian picnic grounds, 50 miles north of Cairo, and police reported today that 23 persons were drowned. Attracted by a burst of fireworks on the other side of the bridge, a mob raced across. Cables holding the span snapped and all fell into water 18 feet deep.

BULLETINS

Fourth Man Held
In Fraud Case

VANCOUVER (CP)—George Caldwell and two other men facing charges of fraud involving about $250,000 were remanded today to April 11, and a likely start on a preliminary hearing.

At the same time Crown prosecutor George Murray said George Kerr, a fourth man charged in the alleged conspiracy, had been arrested in San Francisco.

Blast Kills Man

SANDSPIT, B.C. (CP)—Yrjo Nikama, 55, a powder man at the Northern Pulp Company plant here, was killed today while carrying a half box of dynamite. There was an explosion and pieces of shattered clothing were found, but little trace of the victim.

Milt Won't Quit

BOSTON (AP)—Milt Schmidt today denied reports that he has decided not to coach Boston Bruins next season.

"There is nothing to any of these stories," said Schmidt, whose Bruins finished last in the National Hockey League season.

Injuries Fatal

VANCOUVER (CP)—Sharon Copp, 6, of suburban Burnaby, injured when struck by a car last Thursday, died today in a New Westminster hospital.

EICHMANN TRIAL

No Immunity
For Ex-Nazi
Witnesses

TEL AVIV (Reuters)—Israel has no intention of granting immunity to persons with a Nazi past who came to Israel as defence witnesses for Adolph Eichmann, Justice Minister Pinhas Rosen said today.

Rosen made the statement in the Israeli parliament as one of the defence lawyers for Eichmann—accused of organizing the Second World War murder of millions of Jews—flew to Germany today to locate witnesses for Eichmann's defence.

Rosen said the Israeli government would do all in its power to bring Nazi criminals to justice and help other countries to do likewise.

Lawyer Dieter Wechtenbruch said in a statement that his hunt for defence witnesses would not be an easy task, but "I am convinced I shall find these witnesses and there is no doubt they will be prepared of their own free will to appear in court on the accused's behalf."

Troops Sent
By Portugal
To Angola

(Times News Services)

LISBON—Portugal has ordered troop reinforcements to be flown to the Portuguese colony of Angola following terrorist attacks there, the Portuguese news agency Lusa said today.

Many of the terrorists were reported to have come over the border of the neighboring Congo.

The communiqué said all aid possible will be put at the disposal of Angola "for the most rapid punishment of the barbarous criminals who committed horrible crimes."

Rescue workers today reported the toll in the Mau Mau-style attacks by marauders last week—more than 70 persons butchered, white and black, ranging in age from 8 to 80.

Sask. Hikes Pensions
On 'Needs Test' Basis

REGINA (CP)—A. M. Nicholson, Saskatchewan minister of social welfare and rehabilitation announced today in the legislature an increase of more than $2,000,000 annually in provincial pension allowances.

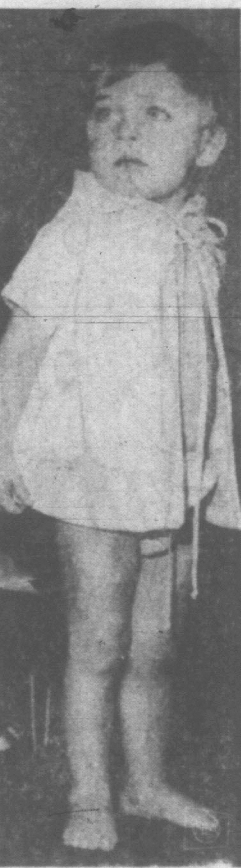

He said eligibility will be determined by a "needs test" rather than the existing "means test."

The changes will be effective Nov. 1, 1961.

The minister also announced similar changes in the mothers' allowances program to come into effect July 1, 1961. He said the program will be known as aid to dependent families.

Both allowances have been financed entirely by the provincial government, but under the new "needs test" arrangement the federal government will share the supplemental allowance on a 50-50 basis and also will pay about 15 per cent of the mothers' allowance.

RCN Sailor Killed In Florida Mishap

FORT LAUDERDALE, Fla. (AP)—A Canadian sailor standing sentry duty on a bridge died today after being struck by a car driven by a vacationing college student.

The sailor was identified as seaman Douglas Makeyvis of Montreal, a member of the crew of the frigate HMCS Buckingham.

WIRE BRIEFS

Rioting in Algeria

ORAN, Algeria (Reuters)—Police clashed today with some 3,000 Moslem demonstrators in nearby Mostaganem and the army occupied the west Algerian town with tanks and armored cars. Three persons were reported injured.

Conciliation Near?

LEOPOLDVILLE, The Congo (AP)—Rebel leader Antoine Gizenga was reported Sunday to be working toward conciliation with President Joseph Kasavubu despite his face-saving rejection of the Congolese confederation proposed by his political rivals.

Algeria Talks Near

BERN (UPI)—The Swiss foreign ministry announced today that preparatory French-Algerian talks designed to pave the way for full scale peace negotiations will get under way in Switzerland within the next few days.

'Sympathetic'

OTTAWA (CP)—Prime Minister Diefenbaker and members of his cabinet were reported today to be sympathetic to urgings by the Retail Merchants' Association for a clear-cut ban on trading stamps.

D. A. Gilbert of Toronto, general manager of the national association, said a brief presented to the prime minister, Trade Minister Hees and Justice Minister Fulton was given "an excellent reception."

JFK ASKS MORE MONEY FOR FOREIGN PROGRAMS

WASHINGTON (AP)—President Kennedy asked Congress today to boost next year's U.S. budget by nearly $5,000,000,000.

He sought, among other things, additional funds to step up state department activities in Africa, strengthen the U.S. information agency's program in Africa and Latin America and expand the U.S. staff at the United Nations.

Congolese Aid UN Against 'Witches'

LEOPOLDVILLE (AP)—A joint force of United Nations troops and Congolese of the Stanleyville regime got through to Kasongo today in their drive against fanatical witchcraft gangs terrorizing Kivu province.

The column, made up of 150 UN Malay soldiers and 50 Congolese, flashed a terse message to UN headquarters here saying: "All is well."

The 200-mile drive to Kasongo from the UN base at Kindu-dubbed Operation Distress—apparently met no resistance from the bow-and-arrow gangs who say they will "kill all whites." The trip took 24 hours.

An estimated 30 whites, thought to be mainly missionaries and plantation owners,

Gibson Challenges Clyne

A public debate with a forest magnate has been proposed by North Vancouver Liberal MLA J. Gordon Gibson.

Mr. Gibson has challenged J. V. Clyne, chairman of the board of MacMillan, Bloedel and Powell River to debate the policy of granting tree farm licences by the provincial government.

Mr. Clyne said last week Mr. Gibson was "reckless and irresponsible" after a speech in the legislature attacking this policy.

"I am fighting for equal opportunity for future generations," said Mr. Gibson.

He said Mr. Clyne's remark put him into the arena of public affairs and he should therefore be willing to debate this issue in public.
